

THE OSTRICH-- Doesn't Know Any Better

He thinks he is executing a brilliant bit of strategy when he thrusts his head deep into the sand. It's dark down there, no competition is in sight, and it's a pretty shrewd maneuver of retrenchment--according to the ostrich. The only trouble with the ostrich's theory is that it's all wrong.

Many business men today are following the ostrich theory in their advertising--they say and rightly so that they can sell what merchandise they have without advertising--SO why spend the money--that's true as far as it goes BUT when this war is won (and it will be) any merchant who has the price can buy all the merchandise he desires, BUT the public as always are going to trade with those merchants they know and haven't forgotten. I know of no better way to keep them from forgetting than constant advertising. There is no need to splurge--just keep on advertising in your regular way--it will pay big dividends in the end.

A thief, who entered the Pontiac salesroom on Washington st., Newton, by breaking a rear window, attempted to steal a new car and was either frightened away or unable to start the car after he had pushed it out of the building. He apparently opened the garage doors from the inside and had pushed the car out to the driveway.

A bench wagon that was stolen from the Esso Gasoline station at 2350 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale, on Friday evening was recovered and returned to the owner.

Lt. Kavanagh Is Injured In Action

Second Lieutenant James P. Kavanagh, son of Mrs. Delia F. Kavanagh of 11 Bowers st., Newtonville, is reported to have been injured in action in the European area, according to a list issued by the War Department on Friday.

Mrs. Kavanagh had received a telegram from the War Department stating that her son had been slightly injured on Oct. 26. Since then she has received no word from her son.

Lt. Kavanagh was a bombardier on a Flying Fortress. He was graduated from Our Lady's High School and entered the Army in August, 1942. He received his commission early this year and was sent overseas in July. He saw action in North Africa and was injured on his return to England.

His brother, Staff Sergeant Roger C. Kavanagh, is stationed at the Army Air Forces Base, Rome, New York. He has three sisters, Miss Helen Kavanagh, who is employed in the Newton Street Department; Miss Margaret Kavanagh employed in the Water Department, and Mrs. Mary Griffin, all of Newtonville.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Beckwith, 4 Winthrop st., who missed meeting each other in a Kansas City hotel last May, met at their home on Thanksgiving Day. They have not seen each other since they entered the service a year and a half ago. Corporal L. Walker Beckwith, Jr., is stationed with the Engineers at Camp Bowie, Texas, and Ensign Winslow F. Beckwith, USNR, is an instructor at the Naval Air Base at Pensacola, Fla.

Print 10,000 Honor Roll Post Cards

The Newton Post American Legion has had printed 10,000 colored post cards depicting the new Honor Roll at Newton City Hall to be distributed to men and women who are in the service, and some to be sold to the public.

Seven thousand of these cards will have the words "Courtesy of Newton Post 48, American Legion, Newton, Mass." printed under the picture, and will be given free to families of men and women in the service to be sent to those who are serving. Cards will also be included in the traveling kits which are distributed to inductees by the Citizens' Committee.

Letters have been sent to all clergymen in the city requesting that they send in the list of all members of their parishes in service. The lists will be checked with the one kept in the Soldier's Relief Commissioner's Office where the Honor Roll names are made up. As soon as the lists are checked a card for each name on record will be sent to the church from which the list came. The clergymen will then distribute the cards to families for mailing to those to the armed forces.

For sale to the public will be 3,000 of the cards with the words, "Published by Newton Post No. 48." The sale to the public starts today in stores throughout the city. The Post is prepared to print an additional 5,000 cards if the demand warrants.

Commander Norman I. Paterson of the Newton Post made the following appeal for assistance in getting a complete list of those in service:

"There are many men and women in the service who are not connected with any of the churches in the city and probably their names and addresses are not on file anywhere. In order that these men and women in the service may obtain a card, their families are requested to supply the necessary information to the Newton Post, American Legion, War Memorial Building, Newton Centre.

Save Parish House Of Baptist Church

Engines 3 and 9 and Ladder 2 responded to a call Wednesday afternoon for a fire which started in the cellar of the Parish House of the First Baptist Church at 848 Beacon st., Newton Centre, and had broken through the first floor.

The fire was discovered by the sexton who telephoned the fire department. The flames were quickly brought under control but it was nearly an hour before the "all out" was sounded.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a smoke pipe which, although separated by a metal surface from the partition, had charred the partition, which had become ignited.

Shortly after returning to headquarters, Engine 3 was called out for a fire in an automobile near 356 Beacon st., which was quickly extinguished.

A blaze in the shoe repairing shop at 331 Washington st., Newton, on Wednesday evening was quickly brought under control by the fire department. Engines 1 and 8 responded to a call at 7:35 p. m. Frank Alexander of 97 Charlesbank rd., Newton, is proprietor of the shoe repair shop.

Waste Paper Drive Nets $1561

The recent one-day drive for waste paper conducted throughout the city netted $1561 and the sum was turned over to the Citizens Committee for Service to Newton Servicemen.

The total amount of paper collected on the day of the drive, Sunday, Nov. 7, was 115 tons.

The money was turned over to Roy S. Edwards, chairman of the Citizens Committee. The committee has given a traveling kit to each member of the armed forces whose home is in Newton.

The Chamber of Commerce co-operated with the committee in the drive. The paper was collected in city trucks and deposited in freight cars at Newton Upper Falls.

Another one-day campaign for the same purpose is to be held in a few weeks.

In a bulletin issued recently, the Chamber of Commerce through Secretary Rupert C. Thompson, stated, "We want at this time to express our appreciation and grateful thanks to the many people who co-operated in the collection of waste paper on Sunday, Nov. 7."

$2,800 MORE RECEIVED IN NEWTON COMMUNITY CHEST

With approximately $2,800 in subscriptions received, additional to the total of $313,541 reported on the closing night of the Newton Community Chest in the Greater Boston United War Fund Campaign, the amount reported this year in Newton already exceeds the $315,635 raised in the 1942 Campaign. As this latter amount was the largest ever raised for a United Campaign in Newton, Charles B. Floyd, Chairman, and his entire organization are receiving congratulations for the splendid results obtained in the Campaign just closed.

Included among the contributors for the 1944 Campaign are the following amounts from manufacturers: Raytheon Production Corp. $6500, Ucinite Co. $3500, Sherman Paper Products Corp. $1850, The Gamewell Co. $1250, New England Concrete Pipe Corp. $1000, Security Mills, Inc. and employees $1000, Middlesex and Boston St. Rwy., $750, Bachrach, Inc., $500, Doelcan Machine Tool Co. $500, Earnshaw Knitting Mills $500, Rose-Derry Co. $450, Automatic Machine and Tool Co. $400, Rohmer Wool Scouring Co. $300, Boston Knitting Mills, Inc. $275, Stowe-Woodward $200, Atlantic Research Assn., Inc. $150, Central Rwy. Signal Co. Inc. $100, Futurity Thread Co. $100, and Robert Gair Co. $100.

The employees of Raytheon Production Corp. have already subscribed $3855, with a number of departments still to be heard from. Zenith Associates employees contributed $325, while each of the Newton corporations, which closed on Thanksgiving eve, additional amounts continue to come in and Mr. Walker has stated that, as the goal of $7,500,000 was the minimum goal, all additional contributions can be used to real advantage in the work for 1944 on the home front, on the military front, and to aid our Allies in war-torn countries.

The Newton merchants this year have contributed approximately 25 per cent more to the Chest than any previous year, and this is accounted for by the fact that store employees have contributed generously and the co-operation of the store owners has been excellent. The school teachers and employees have subscribed $5500 to the Chest, exceeding last year's total by a generous amount, while the teachers and students of Lasell Seminary and the Fossenden School also surpassed their 1943 contributions.

Great credit is given by the Newton Chest to the Chamber of Commerce for their splendid co-operation in getting manufacturers and merchants in the city to give their full support to the Chest and interesting their employees to have a greater part in the campaign. In addition to the manufacturers, merchants and schools, credit is given to the municipal employees for exceeding their total quota of $10,000, and to the Advance Gifts and Residential Divisions for making a more complete coverage this year than ever in raising a total of approximately $265,000. The banks and bank employees contributed over $1500 which sets a new record, and the automobile agencies and beverage stores have exceeded the high quotas which they set this year. All in all, credit is due every division and section for the excellent showing made in this year's campaign.

The Greater Boston United War Fund reports a total of $7,626,944 subscribed which is $126,944 over the goal of $7,500,000. Mr. Henry Loughlin of Concord, President of Houghton Mifflin Co., has been announced as the 1945 Campaign Chairman, succeeding Joseph T. Walker of Newton, who is receiving widespread congratulations on the splendid results of the United War Fund Campaign, which closed on Thanksgiving eve. Additional amounts continue to come in and Mr. Walker has stated that, as the goal of $7,500,000 was the minimum goal, all additional contributions can be used to real advantage in the work for 1944 on the home front, on the military front, and to aid our Allies in war-torn countries.

EVERY-MEMBER CANVASS CO-OPERATION

This editorial is not written to aid in any ballyhoo to put the United Every-Member Canvass of the Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Jewish, Methodist, Swedenborgian, Unitarian and Union churches of Newton over the top this coming Sunday. That is not necessary. Newton churches of all faiths are reasonably well financed, and by no stretch of apprehensive imagination can there be envisaged any letdown in support of the religious work of the city when the "Blood, sweat and tears" of war need to be assuaged by a deeper spiritual faith.

The most significant implication of this united canvass is not that everyone interested will have the opportunity to make his or her pledge for the support of the work of the church of his or her choice and that the money will be raised in a businesslike way. The money would doubtless be raised were the outmoded plan of each congregation working independently of the rest still in use. The really important fact is that these churches are united and working together for the common spiritual good of the community. Following the Reformation and the growth of religious freedom, it was inevitable that Protestantism should be split into innumerable sects, each in turn believing that it alone represented the true interpretation of Christ's teachings and that of his apostles. Sect fought sect for the salvation of men's souls.

That regrettable trend has long since changed for the more enlightened spirit of co-operation. Denominations with slight differences of creed are uniting and where there are not enough people of one belief to form a strong church, as in Waban, they are united in one congregation. In the broader trend, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths are now working shoulder to shoulder for the insurance of a better world to come after this sad holocaust has been brought to an end. People are learning that they do not have to agree on every minute detail of how the world may best be saved from its sins in order to work together for the common good of mankind everywhere, regardless of creed, race or color. A new era of religion is gradually dawning.

In answer to this appeal for support of the Protestant religious educational and spiritual work of the city, all of us, whether we be regular attendants of the churches of our choice or not, should be happy to make a response as generous as our means will permit.

Letters To The Editor

November 30, 1943.
To the Citizens of Newton:

It seems advisable that the citizens of Newton should know that we face a real problem in regard to the removal of snow and ice this coming winter, particularly if we have severe storms. War industries have taken a number of men formerly in the employ of the City and our forces available for this work have been greatly reduced. Temporary help for storm emergencies is not available as in previous years. Another factor which adds to our problem is that plow and truck equipment formerly hired for this purpose has been diverted to war work, and it is impossible to determine how much of this equipment will be available. Therefore, plowing of our 277 miles of streets and many additional miles of sidewalks this winter will necessarily be a slow process.

In order to provide proper fire protection, to aid the delivery of milk, food and fuel, and to provide for prompt medical service, it is necessary that we first remove snow from the main highways of the City. The clearing of sidewalks by abutters will aid materially and it is imperative that we have the help of our citizens in all parts of the City. We ask your patient consideration and assure you that we will do all possible to provide men and equipment to the fullest extent obtainable.

an International Trustee of Kiwanis, spoke at yesterday's meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on the subject of "Juvenile Delinquency." From long and intimate experience in court procedures, Mr. Gallagher described the basic causes that result in young people violating the law, and suggested steps that every responsible adult citizen should take to help children to grow to useful citizenship.

"On the basis of mass statistics," Mr. Gallagher stated, "there is no extensive problem of juvenile delinquency in Newton, but the importance of even one child's case is in no measure diminished by the mere fact that there are not a million other cases. The problem can be approached effectively only on the basis of the individual delinquent and the circumstances related to his delinquency. Too frequently, the waywardness of a child is found to stem directly from adult delinquency."

The speaker described the workings of the juvenile courts and suggested that sympathy, guidance and understanding, and help for the young offender are most likely to come out of court proceedings where the child is dealt with privately by a skilled worker than before a gallery of interested persons. No matter how diligently the courts try to deal constructively with youth who have made mistakes, no system administered by human beings is infallible, nor can it entirely overcome the effects of bad example which the child may see in his daily living.

Mr. Gallagher stressed the importance of adult responsibility for the actions which young people may seek to copy, stating that every person may, at some time, be contributing unwittingly to the delinquency of a minor. Not by applying the arbitrary laws of either economics or force can the problem of delinquency, either adult or juvenile, be solved. Only by the strengthening of moral law through the acceptance of individual responsibility by all members of a community can significant headway be made.

Yesterday's meeting represents the third meeting at which Mr. Gallagher has been the speaker, which testifies to the esteem with which his opinion on important problems is held by Newton Rotarians. Among the guests present were James O'Connell, Edward Wright, Walter Bailey, and Fred Heaney of the Watertown Club, Louis Bachrach and T. E. Keller of the Boston Club, Daniel Comiskey and John Kenny of the Needham Club, and Sergeant King, Newton Police Department, Theodore Lockwood, and A. A. Alexander.

The club welcomed to membership Ainsworth Rane, General Manager of the Boston Gardening Company, who was inducted by Dr. Cecil Clark.

The speaker for the next meeting, Monday, Dec. 6, is William H. Bixby, Chairman of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission, who will speak on "Civil Service in Massachusetts."

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

Washington — Pity our poor Congressmen! At least those who have been putting up a fight for the stabilization program. We can't mention their names for they're in trouble enough already with their constituents. Congressional mail is full of complaints from people who are interested in (1) getting higher prices for the commodities they sell and (2) in paying less for the commodities they buy. How is a poor Congressman to reconcile the two?

HISTORY IN THE MAKING—Washington bigwigs of both major parties agreed that the most important speech of the season thus far was the report of Secretary Hull to the joint session of Congress on the recent Moscow Conference. Not only because Mr. Hull really had something to report, but because it was the first time in the history of our country that a Cabinet member has appeared before Congress to give an account of his conduct in office—a practice to be encouraged as a contribution to democratic government.

The next most important speech, to Washington's way of thinking, was made by Wendell Willkie at the Herald-Tribune Forum in New York City.

As the titular head of the Republican Party, W. W. also spoke about the Moscow Pact and on ways in which his party follows in Congress should attempt to extend and improve it.

His was a vigorous plea for international collaboration. And considering the fact that Mr. Willkie will have to face the small but powerful reactionary and isolationist group in his own party when he again seeks the Republican Presidential nomination next year, his speech was extremely courageous, to say the least.

And according to well-seasoned politicians, New York's Governor Dewey and Vice President Wallace were tied for third place. Dewey—who cannot be accused of preoccupation with international affairs—raised his voice for "free private enterprise" in postwar days—to which all but a few agreed. Wallace pointed out that private enterprise would be endangered only if it failed to provide full protection and jobs for everybody.

All good speeches, and most Americans will agree that they were made in good faith. Basically, all stressed the same subject—winning the peace after the war is won. As subjects for both possible and imperative if we all continue to pull together.

Every Washington correspondent was happy to hear that Cornelius Vanderbilt, the ex-socialist who turned reporter some years back, and recently tried his hand at "press agenting," had decided to quit the field of publicity.

Vanderbilt, a gifted journalist, was severely criticized lately for serving as a newspaperman while at the same time engaging in a publicity campaign to whitewash ex-King Carol of Rumania for the American public.

The ex-playboy King, currently resting in Mexico, is toying with schemes to regain his throne after the war. He is putting to the test the commonly held belief that smart American press agents can do almost anything, and can therefore accomplish a miracle for him.

We agree that the powers of press agency have accomplished the unbelievable in the past, and have more recently transformed fabulously rich misers into benevolent characters in the public mind anyway. But it is a mystery to us how Carol's press agents can hope to take a harebrained playboy whose rabbit jumping antics have amused Americans for years, and turn him into a sober statesman whose love for his people is so they would have us believe—a "beautiful, transcendent emotion."

Not even the most stupid American really believes the legend about the public's 12-year-old mentality. And the only press agent who would have us believe that it is so is a Nazi named Goebbels, and he's proved to be wrong too often to be taken seriously.

WALTER PIERCE REPORTS: Germany's impending doom has stirred the imagination of Hitler's young bards. A "death in defeat" song is becoming popular with boys of Hitler's Youth organization. A free translation of the last stanza reads: "A hero's death is our due, when flames devour all Europe, at the downfall of the Teutons." Lovely.

When Donald Nelson visited Russia he marveled at the amount of vodka Russians consumed. Asked by his host how the potent drink was affecting him, Nelson replied that he had a kink in his back from bending back so often. Everyone laughed at the quip, but early next morning a Russian masseur called—to massage his back. Should the Soviet army, out the Nazis in the Ukraine, things will happen fast. Panic will take hold of Germans in the Reich who have been under a terrific strain since 1933. United Nations, however, are planning for German surrender after her industries are crippled by air bombings and large-scale invasion from England got started some time in 1944. In Italy our forces are making headway as expected.

Kiwanis Activities

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club enjoyed a good songfest after the noon meal under the direction of Jack Janse. The boys were in good voice and had a fine time.

One hundred Percent Attendance awards were made to several members. "Doc" Paul, who has a perfect attendance record for 17 years, made three awards. "Walley" Finley has a 10-year record. "Ben" Louis, 2 years and Walter Hood, 2 years.

Sam Johnson made an announcement about the Y. M. C. A. Acappella Choral Group which gathers each Sunday evening at 7:30. All interested Kiwanians are invited to join.

"Ben" Louis announced that next week's speaker will be Mr. Percy Trevelyan, Assistant Superintendent of the Morgan Memorial. He will speak on the work of the Morgan Memorial, particularly the salvage work and the efforts being made to train the physically handicapped.

Mr. Louis introduced Corporal Lillian Constable of the WAC, who, after making a few remarks, showed a movie portraying the basic training of the WAC. The movie was produced by the Army Signal Corps and showed how WACs are drawn into the service from all walks of life, and includes women of all races and creeds. The movie also showed the adjustment which young women must make as they enter into the service of the WAC. A very fine picture was drawn of the daily routine and the picture also showed the work and the social life of the WACs. Many of the new trades in which the WACs may receive instruction were shown. After the showing of the film, President "Jim" Riggs expressed the club's appreciation to Corporal Constable.

Mrs. Arnold F. Wallen Regent asks the members to bring the gifts for Hillside School and Ellis Island to this meeting.

Commissioner Sullivan

As predicted in this space several weeks ago, Governor Saltonstall has appointed a new Police Commissioner, despite the frantic last-minute attempts of the Timilty adherents to keep their favorite in office. It seems to me that Col. Sullivan's appointment was not merely a very smart bit of statesmanship but also a most excellent choice from the technical standpoint. No public servant in Boston is more respected than Thomas F. Sullivan; no man has a greater opportunity to render such vitally important, constructive service to the Hub of the Universe. It is not important right now to ponder on the whys and wherefores of the past few years. It is enough to know that Police administration in Boston has been widely criticized. It was high time to make a change and to effect a rather drastic reorganization in order to rebuild the confidence of our citizens. Frankly, it has seemed to many of us that there was altogether too much politics and too much of the personal equation involved. It followed, of course, that when the time came to make a change, Timilty had succeeded in building up such a large personal following that it was mere routine to amass a huge array of signatures requesting reappointment.

One of the interesting repercussions we are now witnessing is the demand by the Boston City Council that legislation be enacted to take away from the Governor the power to appoint the Police Commissioner and place it in the hands of the City government. What the outcome will be is anybody's guess. My own hunch is that he will continue the status quo, despite the most earnest attempts to make a change.

Another phase of this situation warrants attention in the coming months. My attention was called to a brief story in the paper to the effect that Mr. Timilty would, of course, now seek some political and wind up his political career. What office will he select and what will his platform be? Will it merely be the old record as Police Commissioner or will it be Home Rule for Boston? Underneath it all, presumably, will be the former Commissioner's attempt to get back at Robert T. Bushnell, who has fought untiringly to remove Mr. Timilty. The feud between these two men is most bitter and it is quite obvious that neither man will stop at anything within reason to eliminate the other man from public life. My own feeling is that Bushnell will come out on top. He holds the strongest cards to date.

Republican Candidates—Several interesting things have happened during the past week which make bad reading for Republicans who have been becoming more and more hopeful about a change in the national administration after the 1944 elections. John D. M. Hamilton, to whom I devoted some little space recently, has now been joined on his anti-Wilkie stumping crusade by the 1936 standard-bearer, Alfred M. Landon of Kansas. Mr. Landon is just as frank as Mr. Hamilton. He, too, proposes to put a stamp in any presidential aspirations which Wendell Wilkie may have. Mr. Landon has just addressed the Freshmen Congressmen in Washington and given them a shot of political poison gas. Let's watch the effect. It may conceivably disappoint Mr. Landon, who may still be nursing some grievances in connection with the ill-fated 1936 campaign, when he made one of the sorriest showings on record in the history of the Republican party.

Another angle to watch is the public reaction to the new ticket of MacArthur and Lodge. Is that supposed to be a strictly military ticket? If so, the sponsors of the idea may get a rude shock when they start interviewing some of the military men in this sector. They will, perhaps, find a substantial amount of MacArthur sentiment, but it is doubtful if they will dig up much Lodge sentiment, despite that resourceful gentleman's many colorful magazine articles and reprinted Congressional speeches.

In this connection, consider editorial comments in the Herald today. They raise the question of the voting public's reaction to a strictly military candidate for the Presidency. Right here in Boston we have recently witnessed the spectacle of three defeats for local office for men now serving in our armed forces. Does this mean that the average voter prefers to elect men who are full-time civilians on the home front? If so, what chance would a man like the brilliant General MacArthur have, especially if he is involved in a tremendous military campaign at the very time when his name was appearing on the ballot? Of course, if the war should end suddenly, some months prior to the nominating conventions, it is quite possible that a MacArthur boom might make tremendous headway. Even so, students of our country's history will be quick to point out the sad fact that military men, by and large, have a rather unimpressive record. This is something which it may be helpful to discuss in some detail at a later date.

This WEEK, This WORLD

NEXT TO THE understanding for postwar co-operation achieved in Moscow, the most important act was the implied declaration of war against the Japanese by the Russians.

The joint communique issued by the Moscow conferees included the highly pertinent but little publicized statement, "This declaration published today provides for even closer collaboration in the prosecution of the war and in all matters pertaining to the surrender and disarmament of the enemies with which the four countries are respectively at war."

The countries which are "respectively at war" are Russia, the United States, the British Empire, China, and other United Nations on one side, the Japanese, Germans, Hungarians, Rumanians, and other Axis powers on the other. Significantly, the phrase, "the enemies with which the four countries are respectively at war," includes the Japanese!

Some of the more demagogic soap-box politicians in the United States have taken great delight in baiting the Russians for not opening "a second front" in Asia against the Japanese, while they were first holding and then beating back the Germans in Europe. Quite obviously, to have done so would have been to court disaster on both fronts. Russian wisdom in that respect stemmed from the same reservoir of military good sense which the Americans and British have drawn on in their refusal to open a "second front" in Europe until they were absolutely ready to do so.

One need be no great shakes at history to know that the Russians and the Japanese have been natural enemies through the decades. The Russo-Japanese War, at the turn of the century, was one evidence of it. The clashes at the River Amur just prior to World War II, the fishery rights squabbles, the Trans-Siberian Railroad conflicts, the clash of interests in Outer Mongolia, Inner Mongolia and Manchuria were further proof of Russian-Japanese antagonism. Finally, Russia's military and moral aid to China, in spite of her own precarious position, was convincing testimony of her Japanese orientation. One may be quite sure that nothing—not even a resounding victory over the Germans—would please the Russians so much as the destruction of the Japanese menace on its far-eastern borders.

The Hull-Eden-Molotov communique, issued in Moscow, fair warning that the Soviets plan to turn their attention to the Japanese at the proper time. Then, co-operating with the British, Chinese and Americans, they may be expected to throw their full weight in the final assault upon the Japanese Empire.

THE "WORK-PILE PROJECT" first developed in San Francisco, and now being adopted by other forward-looking communities throughout the country, is an indication that the people generally are alive to the problem and threat of postwar unemployment. The "Work-Pile" plan will not of itself provide employment for returning soldiers—and civilians released from war work—but it will enable the intelligent drawing of plans for the purpose of countering postwar unemployment. By knowing the quantity and quality of work, building, replacement, equipment and purchases which are planned when hostilities cease and the unrationed purchase of goods is again permitted, supplementary employment activities may be charted to take up the employment lag.

It was the great tragedy of the period following World War I that peace ushered in an era of confusion and inaction which resulted in eventual economic collapse. The "Work-Pile Project" proves that the people have learned from their past mistakes.

THE PATTERN OF THE Europe to be may be observed in the Moscow declaration in which the United States, Britain and Russia pledged themselves to the restoration and independence of Austria.

A free Austria, of course, connotes a free Bavaria, and probably a free Prussia as well. Together they indicate a breakup of the Germany of today into a group of independent autonomous states, some republican, other monarchal, but all removed from the military overlordship of Prussia. The choice of Austria, as first among the Germanic segments to be liberated, hinges upon the pertinent fact that Austria is essentially Catholic, essentially liberal and essentially non-militarist, in all of which she differs markedly from much of the remainder of Germany.

NOT SO ODDLY, opposition to the repeal of the Chinese Exclusion Act was spark-plugged by leaders of the American Coalition, who were signers of a propaganda book distributed in this country by the notorious George Sylvester Viereck, convicted Nazi propagandist. Leopards do not change their spots!

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The Alpha Beta Club presented a surprise entertainment on Thursday, Nov. 18th.

After a short business meeting, the president, Mary Bigelow, presented Mr. Sherman, principal of the Perkins Institution. He told the club members about the various activities at Perkins. One very interesting fact was that only about half of all the school population are totally blind. These in all good spirit, are called "the goats." The rest of the students have a little sight, but not sufficient to be able to read ink-print.

He said that the boys very often had tag football games usually with five goats on each team. They were also very proud of their wrestling team, which had tournaments with Needham and other high schools last year finally making the steep grade to the top.

Mr. Sherman brought with him four students from the school who helped make the program more interesting. The first girl read a selection from The Reader's Digest. The Digest is published in three parts in the Braille touch system. It also demonstrates how to write in Braille and as samples asked for names to change into a series of goosimples. Then a boy presented a monologue entitled "Women Can't Be Carpenters."

Perkins has an excellent music department, and to represent this a second Alice Templeton played two selections on the piano one of which was the new, not quite popular, song dedicated to one of our allies, "And Russia Was Her Name."

Then as a climax, Mr. Sherman dictated a letter to a new girl in the Perkins Commercial department, who took it on a special Braille machine and then typed it perfectly on the typewriter.

After a few announcements concerning club dues, the meeting was adjourned.

No member of the Armed Forces wishes to be forgotten: No, not even by his school.

Many members of the U. S. Army, Navy and Marines, Coast Guard, Merchant Marine and those serving Great Britain who have attended Newton High School often return.

A hand tooled red leather book is now in room 314. It is a register for the signatures of all these returning service men and women. They are all invited to write their name, rank, service and address. At this writing the book, started at the beginning of this school term, contains about 100 names. The number increases daily. Highest in rank of the signers is a major, while the most unusual service represented is the Canadian W. A. C.

Information on all former Newton High students is being collected in the library. With the register and the available data a permanent record of Newton High School's part in the war will be kept.

NEWTON COMMUNITY CLUB

The regular meeting of the Newton Community Club will be held on Thursday afternoon, December 9th, at 2 o'clock in the Underwood School. Somerby and her committee, Mrs. Edwin P. Leonard, Jr. and Mrs. Harold L. Higgins.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

We're Working For You

In 1870 there were only forty Chambers of Commerce in the United States and they were located in the major cities. Today, there are Chambers of Commerce in several thousand communities, large and small.

The widespread growth of the Chamber of Commerce movement over a long period of years is significant. It clearly shows that they are not merely fair-weather organizations. During trying periods of war, inflation and depression these voluntary groups have demonstrated the important place they occupy in the business, economic, and social lives of their communities. In addition, they have contributed substantially to the strength and progress of the Nation. It is essential in these times that men should recognize the value of group effort in dealing with community affairs. Current and historical facts record that desirable objectives can be reached most effectively through the medium of a Chamber of Commerce.

You have invested your money in this, your Chamber of Commerce. Get your money's worth—use the services offered.

$600 Raised For Church Fund

At the Community Thanksgiving Service held in the Auburndale Congregational Church an offering of over $600 was raised for the building fund of the Church of the Messiah, which was recently destroyed by fire.

The offering is to be used for the purchase of a new lectern, Bible and other furnishings when the church is rebuilt.

The sermon was by Rev. Richard P. McClintock, rector of the Church of the Messiah, who said in part:

"We have borrowed a church to hold this service. We have borrowed a choir (a good one, too). We have even borrowed a gown for the rector. And we have borrowed a congregation from somewhere."

"We give thanks to God for the spirit of good fellowship and neighborly sympathy that makes all this borrowing possible."

Greetings were sent to the Rev. Stephen Callender, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church, who was confined to his home by illness. Rev. Ralph H. Rogers, Ph.D., minister of the host church, presided at the service.

There's plenty doing on the battlefronts; what we want to know is . . .

"WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON?"

"National news we get--send us some hometown news!"

Louder and louder grow the pleas for news of the home town. Big and little incidents that seem unimportant to have answered the call for news from service men and women by compiling, editing and distributing free to men and women who are serving overseas

"WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON"

a smart 4 page tabloid-size newspaper, full of brief, newsy, items, about doings in Newton, news of other service men, and sports, church and school news, etc.

THE FIRST ISSUE WILL BE MAILED FRIDAY, DEC. 10 TO OVERSEAS ADDRESSES ONLY

Through an arrangement made between the Graphic and the Rotary-Kiwanis Clubs, beginning Thursday, Dec. 9, and every other week thereafter, the Graphic will reproduce in its entirety, in a "Cut-Out-and-Fold" Form, ready to mail to service men and women in this country.

Case No. 9869-S

(Seal)
Upon the petition of Mildred G. Parsons, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, representing that she is the holder of Certificate of Title No. 30151, issued from the South Registry District of Middlesex County, that there is noted on said Certificate as an encumbrance a mortgage running to the Burbank-Feltham Co. entered as Document No. 102409; that the mortgage note and mortgage obligation were satisfied in full by payment made prior to November 1932, and the petitioner is informed and believes that said mortgage note was returned to her but she has either lost or destroyed the same, and the petitioner is ignorant as to whether or not she ever received a discharge and if one was given the same has been lost before registration, and the petitioner prays that said Certificate of Title No. 30151 be amended by striking therefrom all reference to said mortgage which is entered as Document No. 102409, therefore, it is ORDERED that the petitioner give notice of this petition to all persons interested in the Burbank-Feltham Co., a dissolved corporation, who have not released their interest in the land described in said Certificate No. 30151, by causing a copy of this order to be published forthwith once each week in three successive issues of the Newton Graphic. Unless an objection is so filed, the said petition will be taken as confessed and all respondents will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any order or decree the Court may make.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

"—these are times that test our faith in God."

MEN UNASHAMED TO PRAY

These are times of trial for every one of us. They are times that try our strength as a nation... our fiber as a people... our courage as men. And each day now we see the truth more clearly: these are times that test our faith in God.

In this faith our ancestors founded this nation. In it our freedom was born, our institutions rooted. In it we must find our strength and purpose today... if we are to win the kind of peace that will have real meaning for our children and ourselves.

We must return once more, humbly and simply, to the faith that is the core of our American tradition—the faith in a just and merciful God before whom all men are free and equal.

We must re-awaken in our hearts the passionate conviction of the Founding Fathers who wrote this faith into the motto of our country: In God We Trust.

We must once more be men unashamed to pray... unafraid to place our destiny in God's hands.

This Sabbath—why not attend a local church. And there, with your fellow Americans, seek the strength and confidence that only faith in the eternal truths can give us.

America needs such faith today—in you—in all of us. It alone can bring us a true victory... it alone can give a meaning to our future.

Make Your Faith

an active, daily part of your personal life. Go to church regularly. Support your local church—find a way to give it more of your time, your strength.

Make it your resolve, especially on December 5, to attend divine services at your house of worship, and to pledge extra support for your local church in meeting the heavy burdens which the war has placed upon it as it seeks to minister to a war-torn world.

Interest In Longy School

Interest has been shown by a number of Newton residents in new educational procedures at the Longy School of Music, Cambridge, and in recent innovations in the school curriculum.

For the convenience of students of all ages in wartime, the school year has been divided into three terms of twelve weeks each instead of two semesters, as formerly. The winter term starts Monday, Jan. 3, preceded by the registration period, which begins Dec. 1.

To facilitate transportation, pupils between seven and 13 years who are enrolled in the Preparatory Department at the Longy School may take their regular weekly private lesson in the local studio of the faculty representative, Verona Durick, piano soloist, of 375 Newtonville ave., is the accredited teacher of the school for the Newtons.

Private lessons taken at local studios when accompanied by class lessons at the school are credited towards the preparatory certificate, an award which signifies that the required work of the preparatory department has been accomplished.

All students in the Preparatory Department meet at the school building in Cambridge on Saturday mornings, where they are grouped according to age and experience for the study of musicianship, sight reading, and theory. A weekly assembly is also held, at which members of the faculty and the students themselves perform and discuss music. The Junior Orchestra, under the direction of Edgar Curtis, also rehearses on Saturday, and is open to all who play orchestral instruments.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, December 5, 1943, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all its branches.

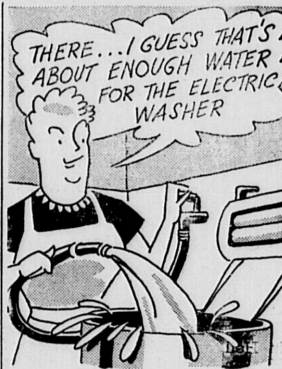

The Golden Text, "Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God," is from Hebrews 3:4. Other Bible citations will include, "Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and His Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded" (Isaiah 45:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, Father-Mother is the name for Deity which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation. As the apostle expressed it in words which he quoted with approbation from a classic poet: "For we are also His offspring" (p. 332).

Drive Planned Against Parking

In order to facilitate the removal of snow from Newton streets during the winter months the Newton police traffic bureau is planning a drive against all-night parking of cars on the streets of the city.

Members of the police force will warn owners of cars which are found to have been parked on a street for more than one hour between 2 and 6 a. m. that they are violating the law. A slip bearing the following statement of the city ordinance will be left on the car of the offender:

"Section 10. No all night parking. It shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle, other than one acting in an emergency, to park the said vehicle on any street for a period of time longer than one hour between the hours of 2 A. M. and 6 A. M. of any day."

The drive is to begin at once in order that car owners may become familiar with the law before the snow falls. Violators of the ordinance will be prosecuted. In past years cars which have been parked all night in the streets interfered with the work of the snow plows and in some instances where plows could not pass by parked cars large sections had to be left unplowed.

The line dividing Precincts 1 and 3 of Ward 6 was changed so that it will run through the center of Nobscot rd. the entire distance of the street, from Commonwealth ave. to Ward st. thence along Ward st. southeast, instead of passing between two dwelling houses on Nobscot rd. and following the rear lot lines of six properties to Ward st., as at present.

Rotary Club

William H. Bixby, chairman of the Massachusetts Civil Service Commission and personnel director of Wm. Filene Co., Boston, spoke at Monday's meeting of the Newton Rotary Club. The speaker outlined briefly the administration of civil service in the commonwealth as it affects the selection and promotion of over 55,000 state, county and municipal employees. "The two chief functions of civil service," Mr. Bixby stated, "are to supply capable persons to occupy positions in public service and to see that the selection of applicants for such positions is accomplished with justice to the applicant. At present, the Civil Service Commission, consisting of five members appointed by the Governor, are seeking to improve the written examination as a means of personnel selection and developing improved methods for recording the progress of individual workers in service."

The speaker asserted that one of the greatest threats to high standards of public service is public apathy and unconcern in the few communities where the applicant is expected to "lay it on the line" to secure appointment. In the past, the cooperation of the district attorney and the attorney general has been sought in order to stamp out such practices, but recently there has been evidence of increased public support to the commission's efforts.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the return of Paul E. Elicker, past president of Newton Rotary and formerly principal of Newton High School. Mr. Elicker, who is at present stationed in Washington, conducted the meeting.

The program for Monday, Dec. 13, is in charge of Warren Oliver who has secured Thomas J. MacGowan, Jr., scout executive, Nantuxet Council, to speak on "Why I Believe in Scouting."

"For Whom The Bell Tolls"

"For Whom the Bell Tolls" opens a week's "Exclusive" engagement at the Wellesley Hills Community Playhouse on Thursday. It comes directly from a run of six consecutive weeks in Boston and will be shown at this time, at only a limited number of theatres.

"For Whom the Bell Tolls," written by Ernest Hemingway, is one of the most widely read books of the past several years. The startling film translation, in production for the past three years, is no less powerful than the original.

Gary Cooper as Robert Jordan, American professor, who takes up arms against Fascism in the Spanish conflict and Ingrid Bergman as Maria, the young Spaniard whom he befriends and falls in love with are ideally suited to their roles.

The balance of the large supporting cast is perfectly selected. You will find "For Whom the Bell Tolls" one of the most thrilling screen experiences you have ever enjoyed.

WABAN WOMAN'S CLUB

On Monday, December 13th, at the Waban Neighborhood Club House, the Waban Women's Club will present Fernan Cesar in her unique and artistic program of dramatic sketches entitled "Mosaics." The regular meeting will be at two o'clock and the tea hour, which will follow the program, will be in charge of Mrs. Howard S. Downing. Mrs. Walter A. Hosley and Mrs. J. Earle Parker will assist her as pourers.

Kiwanis Activities

Two guests were present at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club — Frank Mahaffey, formerly President of the Boston Club, and Harry Twigg, a new member recently elected.

Announcement was also made that Robert Burns was elected to membership by the Board of Directors which met last evening. George Van Buskirk led group singing and did a good share himself. President Riggs announced that the Kiwanis Club has been invited to meet with the Lions at 6:30 o'clock on Dec. 16, at which time Mr. J. Bentley Cheney, President of Skyways Corporation, will speak on the future of the helicopter. Ed Pease reported on the directors' meeting held Dec. 6th.

Ben Louis then introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. Percy Treveltham, Assistant Superintendent of the Morgan Memorial, who is a Kiwanis member. Mr. Treveltham sketched the historical development of the Morgan Memorial which was founded in 1864 by Rev. Henry Morgan. The early needs which confronted the organization are still present, namely, the need for work with young children and adults. The present-day nursery enrolls 45 children from 2 to 5 years of age. Four hundred physically handicapped adults are working at present in the Morgan Memorial Good Will Industries in repairing and salvaging all kinds of materials, which in turn are sold to those most in need of them.

Morgan Memorial maintains a transient home, a home for elderly women and a summer camp. Four hundred and sixty-two children between the ages of 2 and 12 years are taken care of for an 8-week period each summer by the camp. Mr. Treveltham closed his presentation by mentioning several personal instances taken from the lives of people who have been helped by Morgan Memorial. Members of the club agreed that Mr. Treveltham's presentation was most helpful and inspiring, particularly in view of the Kiwanis motto, "We Build."

Lions Club

Hon. Judd Dewey, Deputy Commissioner of Savings Bank Life Insurance, was the speaker at the last meeting of the Newton Lions Club. Mr. Dewey, who was introduced by Ralph S. E. Sanguinetti, Program Chairman, spoke on "Suggested Reading for Business Men" and mentioned that where so many had such little time available, it was well to make our reading time count.

Mr. Dewey said that he is particularly fond of Lincoln's address and his letters, for in them can be found English in its beautiful simplicity, where every word is given its full meaning. Lincoln's sense of justice and the greatness of the man himself are constantly brought out in his works.

When recommending the speeches of Webster, Mr. Dewey proved himself to be a great story-teller by relating many interesting incidents built around this New England orator.

King Lion Dave Buxbaum presided at the meeting and announced that the club would hold a dance on January 15th, further details on which would be forthcoming shortly.

Is Injured By Delivery Sedan

Mrs. Delia M. Finneran 70, of 38 Whitlow rd., West Newton, was injured when she was struck by a delivery sedan late Sunday afternoon at Washington st. and Lewis terrace, Newton.

Donald E. Ferguson of 21 Park place, Newtonville, driver of the sedan, in his report to the police stated that he had been blinded by the setting sun and although he had pulled down the sun visor and applied the brakes it was too late to avoid hitting the woman.

He took her to the offices of several physicians and on finding none of them at home took her to the Newton Hospital where it was found she had suffered possible fractures of her hip and ribs, as well as contusions and abrasions.

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

The annual Christmas Concert of the All Newton Music School will be held on Friday evening, December 10th, at 7:30 o'clock in the Newtonville Woman's Club on Washington Park.

For many years this concert has ushered in the Christmas season for parents, pupils, and friends of the Music School. In addition to string ensemble numbers there will be instrumental solos during the first half of the program. The second half will be devoted exclusively to Christmas music, featuring old Christmas carols from many lands. Members of the Theory Classes, Junior Orchestras, and String Ensemble will be assisted by a choral group from the West Newton Community Centre.

The concert is free and a cordial invitation is extended to all to come and catch the real spirit of Christmas from the music of these earnest young people.

Other events at the Music School before it closes on December 18th, for the Christmas vacation will be a Christmas Party for pupils of the Peirce Branch, West Newton, at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, December 14th and one for those of the Clavin Branch, Newtonville, on Thursday afternoon December 16th, at 3:45 o'clock.

Party recitals are open to all students of Elementary and Junior High School grade. They give to many their first experience in playing outside the home before fellow students and parents. The children may come to listen or to play, but are urged to take part in one or more of the parties held during the season. On these occasions, the student discovers that there is real value in playing gladly for others; perfection of performance follows gradually as the pupil gains in confidence and experience. Students new this fall are especially invited to attend these Christmas parties either to play or just to listen and get acquainted.

THE COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB OF WEST NEWTON

Christmas carols will open the Christmas season at the December meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton on Wednesday afternoon, December 15, at two o'clock in the hall at the Unitarian Church. Mrs. J. W. F. MacDonald, chairman of music, has planned the program and Mrs. Marion Kingsbury will lead the Glee Club in the carols.

Mrs. Marion T. Rudkin is the speaker for the day, and she will talk on "The Quest for the Best." Mrs. Rudkin is well-known for her book reviews and is always enthusiastically received by her audiences.

Before and after the meeting there will be a sale of homemade food. This sale has been arranged by Mrs. Carleton L. Smith, chairman of war relief, and the money will all go to war relief. There is special need now for money to buy wool for garments to be knitted for our own soldiers.

Mrs. Arthur B. Tyler is hostess for the afternoon, and her committee will serve tea at the conclusion of the meeting.

The Community Service Club sewing day at the Newton Hospital will be Tuesday, December 21. Work starts at 10 in the morning, and there is great need for workers.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

The Soldier Vote

It is curious to note the gyrations of our Congress in Washington. When the farm bloc becomes unduly vocal and turns on the heat, Congress gets busy and caters to its desires. When the labor bloc announces what it wants and why, Congress does its best to react satisfactorily to labor. (No; I have not forgotten the anti-strike bill, which was a distinct exception to the rule.) Let the unorganized, as yet, soldier bloc of World War Two suggest that the members of our armed forces would like to have an opportunity to cast a vote for President in 1944, and THEN see what happens.

You may recall that there has been a great deal of talk for many months now about the importance of giving our soldiers, sailors and marines a chance to cast their vote next fall. The upshot of all the furore was the so-called Green-Lucas servicemen's absentee voting bill. What happened to this bill? It was NOT passed by Congress. Various amendments were about to be tacked on, for good, bad and indifferent reasons. As a result, three Southern Democrats with their own special axe to grind, sponsored a substitute bill which throws the entire problem back into the lap of the forty-eight states. You can imagine what will now happen. Each state will doubtless have different ideas as to the solution of this complex problem and the mechanics of working out the details will leave the governmental officials dizzy. There will be no more uniformity than there is in our hedgehog states. And the real sufferer, of course, will be the serviceman, who now stands much less chance of recording himself in the crucial 1944 elections. It is a shame and there is almost no excuse for the current confusion. Congress should spend more time working and less time TALKING. (Kindly note the Congressional Record.)

Consider, now, the line-up of our New England Senators. We have twelve Senators, of whom eight are Republicans and four are Democrats. Three Republicans and two Democrats (including our own Senator David I. Walsh) voted FOR the substitute bill; three Republicans (including Senator Henry Cabot Lodge) and one Democrat voted AGAINST the substitute bill and two Republicans and one Democrat were not recorded. Obviously, therefore, the vote was not along party lines. Taking the Senate as a whole, the vote for the bill came from twenty-four Democrats and eighteen Republicans. Opposed to the bill were twenty-five Democrats and twelve Republicans. I would appreciate it very much if some of my readers would throw a little light on what would be an unpredictable Congress now done. Incidentally, it might be helpful if our Senators received some mail from their constituents, asking for an intelligent explanation. It doesn't seem fair to give our servicemen the run-around at the same time that Congress is catering to local pressure groups, whose lobbyists are ALWAYS functioning on Capitol Hill.

Despite all the agitation by the Democrats, it does not seem likely that there will be any special session of our State Legislature next month. On the surface, there appeared to be one or two fairly good arguments on legislative grounds for our returning servicemen. However, it has been proved that there is already on the books sufficient legislation to meet current needs. There seems to be general agreement to leave the matter to our Governor, who has it in his power to set the wheels in motion without much delay.

This brings up once more the whole question of biennial sessions, which will come up once more next fall. It is painfully obvious that the average professional politician will never rest until he gets back his annual session on the natural increase in his pay-check. You will note that the movement for return to annual sessions does NOT come from taxpayers' associations or businessmen or even ordinary citizens. If it did, most of us would be more impressed. This matter will be discussed more fully at the proper time in 1944.

NEW BETTY BAKERIE AT NEWTON CENTRE

Thursday, Dec. 9th, was the gala opening day of the new Betty Bakerie Bakery at 1255 Centre st., Newton Centre. This is the fourth and largest of these famous retail bakeries.

The enthusiastic women who crowded the store until closing time saw fascinating trays of all kinds of good things in the hands of the modern kitchen behind the store where skilled bakers, mostly women, were working under the direction of a nationally known master baker. They exclaimed with delight over the trays of Danish pastries, French pastries, petit fours, fancy tea cakes and party cakes. They enjoyed seeing the quality ingredients being actually mixed into these delectable foods.

In one corner of the store itself, near the Christmas cookies, gingerbread men, fruit cake and plum puddings, a woman was skillfully decorating cakes with intricate fancy icing. Everyone watched this unusual demonstration with keen interest. The festive Christmas decorations gave a holiday atmosphere to the opening and every one who visited the bakery received a charming souvenir.

Newton Centre housewives are to be congratulated that Betty Bakerie is now so near at hand to lighten their cooking labor and to add delicious foods to their daily meals and gracious hospitality.

Lt. Douglas V. Whitelegg, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army having been transferred from Signal Corps, has completed Special Engineer Training Course and is at present on duty with Station Complement, attached to the office of the Post Signal Officer at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Staff Sergeant Gerard J. Hagerty, son of Mrs. Josephine M. Hagerty, 1623 Washington st., West Newton, now assigned to the 396th Military Police Escort Guard Company Prisoner of War camp, has been awarded the good conduct medal, according to Col. Charles J. Deahl, Jr., camp commander.

The good conduct medal was awarded to those enlisted men who had "demonstrated fidelity through faithful and exact performance of duty and whose behavior had been such as to deserve emulation."

The medal is represented on the soldier's shirt or blouse by a red ribbon with three vertical white stripes at each edge. After the war is over, the medal itself will be awarded. It is a bronze spread eagle with the words "Efficiency—Honor—Fidelity" surrounding the eagle, hung from a red ribbon with white stripes.

An Eighth AAF Bomber Command Station, England, Capt. Robert R. Morrill, 24, of 378 Walnut st., Newtonville, an Eighth AAF Flying Fortress flight commander and pilot of a fortress, has flown on a large number of bombing assaults on targets in Nazi-held Europe.

Recalling experiences of his flying career in the tough aerial battles against the Germans, Capt. Morrill declared crew cooperation is "the only thing that makes it possible for a bomber crew to survive in the air over Europe."

The young captain, a former travelogue lecturer and polo coach at the Evans School, Tucson, Arizona described a harrowing close call with destruction during the fortress attack on Schweinfurt, center of the Nazis' ball-bearing industries. Left alone, because of losses in the formation going into the target, Capt. Morrill's ship was pounced on by a swarm of German fighters.

"They went to work on us and slugged us with everything they had," reported Morrill. "They used cannon fire, machine guns, rockets, and even bombing from the air."

The Distinguished Flying Cross was awarded to Capt. Morrill for his achievement during the history-making England to Africa shuttle bombing of the Messerschmitt factory at Regensburg, deep in southern Germany. Despite damage to the plane's controls, and contending with flak, fighter attacks and fire on board his own fort, Capt. Morrill brought his battered bomber safely to Africa.

Capt. Morrill's crew has been credited with the destruction of seven enemy planes.

Attend Two-State Conference

Nine delegates from Newton and Watertown attended the Fifty-Fourth Two-State Y. M. C. A. Older Boys' Conference at Lynn, Mass., this week-end. Those attending were Samuel H. Johnson, Boys' Work Director of the Newton Y. M. C. A., G. Robert Strandberg, Noel W. Roberts, Jr., Clement Diagonian, Paul MacDonnell, Joe Pynchon, William Carolan, Robert Read and Richard Melick.

Three hundred and fifty older boys representing various Y. M. C. A. and church groups throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island made up the conference.

The theme of the conference was "What of the Future—for Myself, for My Country, and for the World?" Dr. Frank Slutz of Dayton, Ohio, was the principal speaker and addressed the group three times during the conference. After his presentation, the conference was subdivided into ten work groups to discuss further specific ways in which young men can help to bring about a better world.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. has for many years sent delegates to the Older Boys' Conference and those who attended this year were enthusiastic about their experience. The entire group was challenged by Dr. Slutz to return to their individual communities and through the various club groups they represented, to put to work the Christian principles emphasized at the conference.

161 Randlett park, West Newton.

A Christmas Party for the members is being planned.

The Amercan Home Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Howland Lester, 203 Mt. Vernon st., West Newton, Wednesday, December 1. Mrs. Percival Waters and her committee served a delectable luncheon. Mrs. Raymond Littlefield conducted a business meeting which was followed by a Christmas party for the members.

W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. held their regular Evangelistic meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Helen M. Merriam on Coleman rd., Newton Centre. Mrs. W. E. Blake, the leader, took for her subject "The Bible and gave a most interesting and inspiring talk.

Mrs. Jessie M. Clark, the president, put on four pictures which were very much appreciated by the members. The titles of the pictures were: "He Went Straight Home," "The Tower of Strength," "Dollars and Sense" and "The Chance of a Lifetime."

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mae L. Sweet.

SPORTS . . . in a Nutshell

Here it is December—and the sports news for 1943 almost completely stored away behind lock and key excepting some last-week sidelights.

And the Boston spotlight for the remainder of the season fell on (1) the North Shore-South Shore All-Star Grid Classic at Manning Bowl, Lynn, last Sunday; (2) the Boston Bruins on home ice for quite a spell hoping to break a losing spell; (3) the Olympics who are the top amateurs this season with 9 straight wins to date; and (4) College basketball which gets underway full steam about Christmas time.

The football game, the last gridiron tussle of the year for Hub fans, was also the last time hometowners saw Newton's outstanding guard Chuck Bryson in action. Bryson was the lone Orange player chosen on the S. S. All-Star Squad Suburbs won 13-6.

Boston Garden should have full houses for the eight home games the Bruins are to play during the D month. The Rossmen are certainly not cellar contenders—and they are out to show the Beantowners that they aren't.

And here's the line-up to date: Courteau, g. Cawley, c. Cain, lw. Boll, rw. Clapper, rd. Crawford, ld.

Alternates: Hollett, Gallinger, Guidolin, Palazzari, Calladine, H. Jackson and A. Jackson.

Johnny Brinsek is now set milder for the Coast Bruins in the N. E. amateur league. And the Pies, the hottest club of the year, shot 6 aces by him in the last game. By the way, the Bruin goalie, Maurice Courteau, is or was the Olympic goal-tender.

And the latest has it that he and Palazzari will play for their own club—Pies—when the two Boston clubs face off in what's expected to be quite the contest, Dec. 16.

Review of the Newton sports highlights, 1943.

A championship Newton High track team—as usual; also Suburban hoop leaders. The basketball failed to clinch honors in the Tech Tourney although they won an overtime thriller from New Bedford Vocational. The Orange lost to Brockton in the semi-finals.

Veduccio, city baseball champs and Raytheon, pro, hoop winners in the Tri-City YMCA championship. (But complete detail of highlights in Newton Sports in a later issue.)

And just some flashes about the 1943 Turkey Day game:

Brookline did it again. This time the score was 13-6.

It was Brookline's fifth successive win in the 47th annual grid classic.

The game was played at the Tech Field before a capacity crowd, as it was a beautiful morning. The field was muddy though.

It was senior Joe Murphy, playing in his first year for the Orange and a bench warmer all season, subbing for Capt. Meirovitz, who showed Newton what was missing in the backfield all season. Your boy, Joe, in the five minutes he played (4th period) plunged for two quick first downs and the only Newton score.

Christmas Shopping In Newton In Full Swing

The stores in town are now decorated for Christmas. Shopping is in full swing. This year buying was done early, because so many gifts had to be sent away to service folk. Many gifts are missing from store counters. Cigars, for instance, are not plentiful, toilet sets are scarce.

Local hardware stores report that there are no electrical appliances available. Refrigerators, toasters, radios, etc., usually big Christmas items, are out.

Toys are mostly made of wood and cardboard. However, there are plenty of them and other things that can be bought, and people are buying what they can.

This Christmas, War Stamps and Bonds are going over big, an indication that they will show up in many stockings.

7 NEWTON RESIDENTS RETURN FROM ORIENT

Seven Newton residents were included in the 1,460 Americans who arrived in Jersey City, N. J., last week on the exchange ship Gripsholm.

Included in the list of repatriates, who have been interned by the Japanese for nearly two years, are Dr. John C. Ferguson, 80, famous economist, his daughter, Miss Mary Ferguson, of Newton; Dr. Hugh T. Robinson, of Auburndale, renowned medical missionary in China; Peter Constant of West Newton, U. S. consular officer, and Mrs. Constant; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lane of Auburndale, teachers in Japan.

Pennies From Heaven Have Everyone "Buffaloed"

The new penny issued by the government to save copper certainly has us all "buffaloed." Resembling a dime in its color, it is constantly being mistaken for the ten-cent piece by those in a hurry. Local merchants and bus drivers are getting "gray haired" coping with the problem.

General Alarm For Fire At Church Of the Messiah

A general alarm was sounded late Monday night, Nov. 15, for a fire which caused damage estimated at $100,000 to the Church of the Messiah located at the corner of Auburn st. and Commonwealth ave., Auburndale.

When the fire department arrived in response to the first alarm the fire had spread so rapidly that the interior of the church was all aflame. Deputy Chief Francis Linnehan ordered a second alarm at 10:39 and at 10:42 Chief John L. Keating ordered a third alarm.

Fire departments from Wellesley, Waltham and Needham rendered assistance in fighting the fire while apparatus from Brighton, Watertown and Brookline covered in at the Newton, Newtonville and Newton Centre stations.

The fire was under control by midnight but it was 4:15 a. m. when the "all-out" could be sounded.

NONANTUM A. A. AND BOYS' CLUB ACTIVE

The Nonantum A. A. and Boys' Club are open every night. The N. A. A. has 80 members in the Service. The younger fellows, under draft age, in school or working, have filled in the vacancies, and under the guidance of Pres. "Bin" and Sammy and others, as Advisory Committee, are functioning 100 per cent. With Scout leadership at the front, a substitute carries on. Charlie and Ned steer the "kids" two nights a week. Boxing is the favorite sport. Boys on furlough return periodically and look "in the pink."

Newton High School Settles Into Its War Regime

The Newton High School has settled down to its war regime this year. Last year's changes have become routine and this year the new Plan III co-operative curriculum is running smoothly. In this curriculum the pupil works one week in High School and one in the Trade School throughout the year, and he is prepared for a skilled or semi-skilled job in industry. He is given both a High School diploma and a Trade School certificate.

NEWTON SCHOOLS IN OUTSTANDING JOB

The Newton schools have been doing the most outstanding job in the state in regard to purchases of War Bonds and Stamps. Volunteer women in cooperation with all the Newton banks and the Chamber of Commerce have made this record possible.

Services Held For Beloved Pastor

Rev. John A. Sheridan, pastor of the Church of Our Lady Help of Christians, Newton, died suddenly at the rectory on Friday morning, Oct. 1.

Fr. Sheridan recently observed his 78th birthday and as he had apparently been in good health, his death came as a shock to his parishioners and many friends.

He was born in Watertown, Mass., and attended the Watertown schools. After graduating from Boston College in 1890, he studied for the priesthood at St. John's Seminary. He was ordained on Dec. 21, 1894, and celebrated his first mass in St. Patrick's Church, Watertown.

Funeral services were held Monday morning, Oct. 4, at the Church of Our Lady.

More than 125 clergymen were present, also groups of sisters representing several religious orders.

Fashion Show Is Held At Raytheon

Filling to capacity the employees assembly room for four successive performances, Raytheon workers assisted by professional models and wearing clothes from Wm. Filene and Sons Company produced a fashion show at the plant of Raytheon Production Corporation, 55 Chapel st., Newton.

Fire In Parish House

Wednesday, Nov. 24, was a memorial day in the Parish House of the First Baptist Church when the office staff while working discovered that the parlor was filling with smoke. Upon investigation they found that the furnace flue pipe had ignited the partition between the furnace room and the Boy Scout room.

Evelyn Ring, church secretary, called the fire department and they quickly extinguished the blaze with no damage to anything but the basement partition.

Had the fire started at night, there probably would be no Parish House now.

Coal To Newcastle? We Send Oranges To California!

Talk about bringing coal to Newcastle—Soldiers Relief Commissioner Edmund T. Dungan of Newton revealed recently that at the request of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Norden, who lives in California, he has sent her two dozen of California oranges.

Mrs. Norden told her father that not only is it impossible to buy oranges in Vallejo, California, where she resides, but milk is also scarce there.

COMPILED AND SPONSORED BY THE NEWTON ROTARY AND KIWANIS CLUBS FOR NEWTON SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN

NEWTON, MASSACHUSETTS
Vol. 1—No. 1
DECEMBER 9, 1943
Issued Twice A Month

TO YOU, MEN AND WOMEN OF THE ARMED SERVICES

. . . on all our fighting fronts, The Newton Rotary Club and the Newton Kiwanis Club dedicate "WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON," your home-town news bulletin. Without bias, propaganda or politics, without advertising or commercialism, we intend to bring your home town to you twice a month, through this little paper.

We hope that in keeping you informed of the big and little things that are happening during your absence, you will gain the assurance that all is well at home, and that you may derive some comfort from knowing that we are thinking of you and appreciate the sacrifice you are making for us.

This is your paper. Let us know if you like it. Send your comments, or criticisms, to "WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON," P. O. Box 55, Newton 58, Mass. We will plan future issues in accordance with your suggestions. We fervently hope, however, that you will all be home again soon, making the local news, instead of reading it in future issues of "What's Cookin'."

This Is How It All Happened

"We get national news, what we want is news from our home town, we want to know things like who took Bob's place at Hubbard's Drug Store, how the Newton High School football team is making out this year and what became of the gang on the corner."

After hearing many pitiful requests for local news like this, Roy S. Edwards, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Service to Newton Service Men, decided to do something about it, and he did.

He presented the idea of publishing and mailing a news bulletin to overseas service men to the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. The clubs at once gave their wholehearted support to the idea and agreed to sponsor the project.

The selection of a name for the paper presented a problem, but the consensus of opinion was that "What's Cookin' in Newton" was descriptive of the paper's news content, which will be made up of short newsy items telling you what's on the fire in Newton.

War Stamps and Bonds sold by schools for October was $21,566.85. For September it was over $40,000.

Church Prays For Messiah Members

The following prayer is read at almost every service at the Auburndale Church of the Messiah by Rev. McClintock:

A PRAYER for Messiah Members in the Armed Forces

Almighty God our Heavenly Father, we commend to thy ever-watchful care those who now serve Thee in the Armed Forces of the United Nations . . . especially the members from this Parish.

Grant them strength in the sense of Thy Presence and courage to do Thy will; Preserve them faithful in the day of battle and protect them in temptation, and finally bring them at last to Thy Heavenly Kingdom, through Jesus Christ our Lord. AMEN.

Certificate of Award

At the evening services of Temple Emanuel last Friday night, Dec. 3, the War Department presented a Certificate of Award to the congregation as an appreciation of the services of Rabbi Samuel N. Sherman as chaplain.

Here and There, Around the Clock, Garden City Fights To Aid In Victory

The Garden City awakens early these days—3:30 a. m. usually sees the first toilers of the day straggling in to Newton Corner so's to catch the owl trolleys. With no bus service available, the early birds trudge in on shank's mare from the far corners of the city.

Their numbers increase until by 6 a. m. the first buses disgorge additional hundreds at this transfer point. All of which, added to the roar of automobiles carrying defense workers to the South Shore shipyards, their headlights boring a blinding path through the early morning gloom, creates a miniature Times Square here.

At this time, too, blacked-out buses rumble in to the Nonantum defense plants from every point of the compass. . . Lynn, Mattapan, Woburn, Bitterton, and assorted whistle stops along the way, with all-girl cargoes. . .

Old gals, young gals, slim gals and plump, in overalls and slacks—with occasional purists in dresses—they've all declared war on the Axis and from grandma to granddaughter they're all working around the clock on the production lines.

A military problem
only you can solve

WHEN the committee of senators returned from their recent world tour, they reported that practically every soldier or sailor asked this question:

"How about getting a job after the war?"

Actually, the answer to that question depends on YOU. For when peace comes, the amount of men that our industries can employ will depend on the amount of goods that you can buy.

You can save a soldier's job tomorrow by saving every dollar you don't need today. Buy War Bonds and add to your savings account.

Remember, too, when you spend less and save more you are helping to win the war.

Christmas Greeting

TO THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF NEWTON
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

Written for "WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON"

By AGNES CARR

Special Feature Writer of the Boston Traveler

This is your paper, we write it for you. With news of the home-town and all that we do. We're proud of our boys and our girls far away. We'll make every effort to speed Victory's Day.

This is your paper and in every line. You'll find simple tips in friendly design. We hope that you'll like it while you're over there. And we on the home front, will war's effort share.

Our greeting for Christmas is simple, sincere, Victory for Christmas, Peace in the New Year!

Newton State Guard Notes

Company C in Newton is no more since December 1st! No, they haven't been wiped out in action on the home front. Under a recent State Guard reorganization, the local outfit becomes the 3rd Company of the 1st Battalion. Included in the battalion from this date will also be the security companies of Lincoln, Needham, Wellesley and Weston.

The recent state inspection was a great success. Col. Cormerais has commended Capt. Hennessey and his men for their fine appearance and a good program. Since the statewide recruiting drive early in the Fall, there are almost as many men in our waiting list as there are in the green-uniformed company. The chinos boys made a large platoon at inspection and considering that they had less than a month of drill, they looked good.

Among the old-timers of Company C recently awarded the new State Guard ribbon for "more than a year of service with 80 per cent attendance" are the officers, Capt. Hennessey, Lt. Clement, and Lt. Stevens; Sigs, Boulter, Buck, House, Leghane and Marglin; Corps. Card and Keene; Privates First Class Boot, Burt, Lannigan, McDonald, Porter, Segel, Stevens, A. Tedesco, W. Tedesco and Valente; Privates Caruse, Finklestein, Perlmuter, and Teague. The colors are buff and blue, said to be General Washington's Minute Man colors.

Recent visitors were Henry Gibbs, now in the Merchant Marine, with several voyages to Europe and Africa behind him; Dan Valente (now a sergeant), home from the South on furlough; George O'Leary, looking trim and fit; and Sears McLellan, cheerful as ever.

A bunch of the boys have recently blossomed out with marksmanship, expert, and sharpshooter badges as a result of qualifying with rifle. That's probably kid stuff to you fellows over there. First Sgt. Doucette is with Uncle Sam since early fall and just recently we have said good-bye to Sgt. Warren Reed and Pvt. Gen. crazio, both in the Army now. Drop us a line at the Armory—we'll put it on the bulletin board so all the boys can see it. Good luck.

XMAS TREE SHORTAGE FAR BELOW DEMAND

The supply of Christmas trees will be from 25 to 50 per cent short of the local demand, according to estimates. Lack of room to cut them and transportation difficulties are the cause of the shortage.

New Police Commissioner For Boston Named Nov. 26

Upon the expiration of the term of Commissioner Joseph Timilty, Police Commissioner, City of Boston on Nov. 26, Gov. Saltonstall appointed Col. Thomas F. Sullivan of South Boston to replace him.

Miss Stone Aids In War Effort

When Miss Stone leaves 2106, Newton High School, at 3 o'clock each afternoon, she goes to the Charlestown Navy Yard. She is an electric welder at the Navy Yard from 4:30 to 12:10 Sunday through Friday. The earnings of her pay check are divided between War Bonds and Stamp5 and War Relief organizations. Not content with helping the war effort in that way, she also goes out to Templeton, Mass., where she has a one-third acre Victory Garden. This summer her garden yielded between 400 and 500 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables and 26 bushels of potatoes. On Sundays she plays the organ and directs the choir of the First Federated Church of Templeton. On Columbus Day she gave her eighth pint of blood to the Red Cross and so became a member of the "Gallon Club."

Miss Stone gets to bed at two o'clock in the morning and rises at six to go to school. On Saturday she has 11 hours of sleep, but rises to go to Templeton to do some farming. On Sundays at 9:45 she is at the church to hear the choir. Immediately after church she leaves for the Navy Yard.

As a final contribution to the war effort, if she doesn't do enough already, Miss Stone regularly entertains servicemen at her home in Templeton.

Rev. J. S. Franklin Sends Greetings

Friends of the Rev. John Shade Franklin, who is serving as chaplain somewhere in the Pacific, have received from him by V-mail Christmas greetings, in which he expresses his belief that if "All men and women of goodwill around the world really do their best to win the war between now and Dec. 25, the New Year will bring us the victory we need in order to establish a righteous peace among nations." Chaplain Franklin left New York 23 months ago and has often been in the front lines during heavy fighting.

COLLECT 115 TONS OF WASTE PAPER

A check for $1561.75 has been given to Roy S. Edwards, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Service to Newton's Service Men. This was the proceeds from the collection of 115 tons of waste paper on Sunday, Nov. 7th.

Squelched! Young Private Jones slunk onto the parade grounds 10 minutes late. The sergeant glared, then said, with icy sarcasm: "So you have decided to come on parade. We were afraid you had signed a separate peace!"

"Missing" Newton Flyer Is Rescued

Earlier reported "missing in action," 2d Lieut. Robert M. Hanson, 23, Marine Corps fighter pilot, has written home to his parents. Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson of 31 Brooks ave., Newtonville, that he is safe and has shot down his fifth Jap Zero.

In a letter dated Nov. 5, he said he was rescued from the Pacific by an American destroyer after crashing in a dog fight. The Navy Department had wired his parents he had been missing since Nov. 1.

Awarded Navy D.F.C.

Lt. (jg) Claude R. Frazier of 21 Bonwood st., Newtonville, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for shooting down two Jap planes in one engagement. The following was the citation: "for heroism and extraordinary achievement while serving with a Marine aircraft group during action against enemy Jap forces in the Solomon Islands area on April 1 last."

Every-Member Canvass

Here and There--

The lifting of the dimout has been a big help. It's like old times with the neons blazing again. Householders are leaving their curtains up at night and the friendly glow from the home sweet homes in everybody's neighborhood goes a long way in bringing the old town back to normal.

After 11 p. m. the streets are pretty well deserted. Washington st., the city's main artery, retains a semblance of life with heavily loaded freight trucks rumbling through all night.

The Upper and Lower Falls call it a day, so far as business and traffic's concerned, about 9:30 p. m. Newton Centre and the Highlands follow suit shortly thereafter, with Newtonville and West Newton rolling up the sidewalks before midnight. Nonantum, the defense factory area, settles down to slumber after the shifts change at 11 p. m.

Newton Corner, with its all-night cafeterias, taxis and trolleys, keeps the spark of life burning throughout the night. By virtue of it being the "Stayouts" only point of entry to the city during the wee small hours, the O' Corner never slumbers.

The "Owls" keep the night watch as in days of yore. The all-night cafeteria is still the rendezvous of the nightmen, carmen, drivers of the big overland freight trucks, taximen, wanderers and o' the lads and lassies who love the moonlight. Shortages of cooks and assorted ills sometimes closes the kitchen, but coffee is always obtainable and apparently sufficient to keep the doors open.

British sailors and Canadian airmen are becoming increasingly familiar with Newton. Trolleys and buses are filled to capacity—seventy-five percent of their passengers being women. Due to gasoline rationing, worn tires blowing out and overage automobiles breaking down, temporarily abandoned cars are a more or less familiar sight. Liquor stores, with scanty stocks, are all closing early. Even the soda mountains are running dry. Milk shakes are out by reason of the milk shortage. It begins to appear that water may become the national beverage. Bus and taxi drivers report that the usual conversations of their feminine passengers concern daily letters they are writing to sweethearts, husbands or relatives in the service.

Lieutenant Colonel Edward Hickey of Austin st., Newtonville, who rode over Newton's hills in a police cruiser in the days before the Monkeys of Nippon stuck their shins out, was flying over that Chinese mountain with the long name when last heard from him. Lieutenant Colonel McCabe had much to do with the making of the famous "This Is the Army" moving picture. Joe Nolan, former amateur welterweight boxing cham-

Haven't been able to buy milk shakes at the drug store lately because of the shortage of milk. The shortage was partly due to a severe snowstorm in the northern states where snow accumulation was 28 inches in some places.

Rationed Beef items have been cut 2 or 3 ration points, making more meat available to civilians since rationing began last March.

Recent changes in tire rationing regulations are:

1. Recapping of tire for commercial vehicle with truck-type camel-back is no longer rationed.
2. Tires manufactured principally for reclaimed rubber may now be bought by those persons previously eligible for used tires.

Motorists are reminded by OPA that their old "B" and "C" gasoline coupons continue to have a value of two gallons each in the East and Mid-west and three gallons in the Far West. On December 1, however, all new "B" and "C" coupons issued to motorists whose supplementary gasoline rations expired became good for five gallons each throughout the country. Although each new coupon will be good for more gallons than before, motorists will not receive any additional gasoline because ration books will have correspondingly fewer coupons.

The December quota of 15,500 new passenger automobiles for the country is 25 per cent lower than the November quota, and the lowest in almost 2 years of rationing.

Coast Guardsman Clifford Johnson, Coconut Grove hero of a year ago, whose body was 65 per cent covered with burns, left the Boston City Hospital, Nov. 26, to convalesce at the Brighton Marine Hospital. Doctors have worked diligently on him now nearly a year. He has had 30,000 pin-needle skin grafts and a hundred transfusions. They said: "We learned more from him about the treatment of burns than has ever been learned from any other single patient."

To save gas and tires the Middlesex & Boston St. Rwy. Co. have relocated many bus stops. They now average 660 feet apart. With this move over 200 stops were eliminated for a saving of 25 per cent.

TELEPHONE CALLS CAN BE "DEHYDRATED" TOO..

DEHYDRATION — as a modern weapon of war — saves valuable cargo space by concentrating the essential values of foodstuffs, eliminating the unessential. Untold tons of milk, eggs, vegetables and fruits are sent to our Armed Forces overseas in dehydrated form.

Like ship bottoms, long distance lines between centers of war activity are now at a premium. All possible time on these circuits must be conserved for war calls.

So we are asking civilians to help us "dehydrate" communication over these lines — by the elimination of unessential calls, by keeping necessary calls brief. May we have your co-operation?

GREATER BOSTON'S MOST REASONABLE FLORIST

FISK—HUDSON

In the Church of the Good Shepherd in Waban Friday, Nov. 26 at high noon, Miss Rozelle Hudson, daughter of Mrs. Arlene Rozelle Hudson of Newton Centre, became the bride of Lt. Asa Francis Fisk, son of Mrs. Asa Francis Fisk also of Newton Centre, and the late Major Fisk, U.S.A. Given in marriage by her brother, Samuel Hudson of Newark, N. J. the bride wore a wine-colored velvet afternoon dress and a matching poke bonnet with pale ostrich plumes. She carried a white satin prayer book which has been carried by the brides in her family for generations. Her only attendant was the groom's sister, Miss Claire Brace Fisk, who wore a gold crepe afternoon dress and matching hat with corsage of orchids.

C. Hassler Capron, of Newton

Centre, cousin of the groom, was best man and Robert L. Goodale of Cambridge was the only usher.

The bride attended the Lilla Viles Wyman School of the Dance and studied with Jan Veen. Lt. Fisk, a graduate of Newton High School and Princeton University, is a descendant of both French and English nobility. One great-grandfather was Ferdinand Rudolph Hassler, founder of the U. S. Coast Survey and inventor of the tables of weights and measures. Another was Lord Simon Fisk, of London, and still another Thomas K. Brace, founder of the Aetna Life Ins. Co. The late Miss A. May Hassler who inherited the title of Countess de Longjumeau, was his aunt. Another aunt is Mrs. John F. Capron of Newton Centre. Simon Newcomb, famed astronomer, was a great uncle.

Lt. and Mrs. Fisk will be at home in Louisville, Ky.

CARMODY—McLAUGHLIN

Miss Ann Josephine McLaughlin became the bride on Nov. 27 of Lt. James Francis Carmody, USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carmody of Arlington. The nuptial mass was performed by Bishop Richard J. Cushing in the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre and the mass was celebrated by the Rev. Bernard J. Winn, curate. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Joseph McLaughlin of 6 Whittlesey rd., Newton Centre.

Her sister and maid of honor, Miss Ruth McLaughlin, wore gold taffeta which the bridesmaids, Miss Jeanne McLaughlin, another sister, and the sisters of the groom, Miss Alyce Carmody and Miss Mae Carmody, and Miss Natalie Somes, of Brookline, were gowned in blue taffeta. They wore ostrich plumes with tulle veiling in their hair and carried gold chrysanthemums.

Land Court Case No. 9869-S (Seal)

Upon the petition of Mildred G. Parsons of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, representing that she is the holder of Certificate of Title No. 20151, issued from the South Registry District of Middlesex County; that there is noted on said Certificate as an encumbrance a mortgage running to the Burbank-Feltham Co., entered as Document No. 92160; that the mortgage note and mortgage obligation were satisfied in full by payment made prior to November 1932 and the petitioner is informed and believes that said mortgage note was returned to her but she has either lost or destroyed the same, and the petitioner is ignorant as to whether or not she ever received a discharge and if one was given the same has been lost before registration, and the petitioner prays that said Certificate of Title No. 20151 be amended by striking therefrom all reference to said mortgage which is entered as Document No. 102400, therefore, it is ORDERED that the petitioner give notice of this petition to all persons interested in the Burbank-Feltham Co., a dissolved corporation, who have released their interest in the land described in said Certificate No. 20151 by causing a copy of this order to be published forthwith once a week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said County of Middlesex, to oppose said petition, or your attorney must file a written answer under oath, setting forth your objections or defense to said petition and file the same in the office of the Recorder of said County, at the Court House in Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth, on or before the twenty-seventh day of December next.

Unless an objection is so filed, the said petition will be taken as confessed and all respondents will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any order or decree the Court may make.

By the Court.

Miss Marsh also reminded the members of the two coming lectures on World Affairs to be given by Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor on March 9 and April 20th at 10 a. m. at the clubhouse.

On April 4th the 60th birthday of the club will be celebrated and we will have as our honored guest, the Governor's wife, Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall.

Lions Club

Edward J. McCarthy, General Sales Manager of the Gamewell Company, spoke before the Newton Lions Club on the "History of Fire Protection Equipment," which, he said, closely paralleled the history of his own company, which, for over 70 years has been perfecting this necessary type of community protection. Mr. McCarthy stated that the fire-alarm system as we know it today is an adaptation and greatly improved successor of the single-electric-wire alarm which was invented by Professor Channing of Harvard, and which was first installed in Boston.

Without being too technical, the speaker told of the various improvements which have been made, and by means of visual examples brought us up to date on the newest model of the Newton company which is foremost throughout the world—for Gamewell systems have been installed in almost every civilized country—there being systems in South Africa, Hong Kong, Java and throughout the stations.

Mr. McCarthy then connected two "fire-boxes" and gave a demonstration of how alarms come in to the fire stations where they are automatically recorded on "ticker tape." The "tape" not only shows the box number but also records the date, and time, and in a completely automatic system, even sets off the audible alarm throughout the stations.

At the conclusion of his interesting talk a picture showing the hazard to human life and the needless waste of taxpayers money when false alarms are set off, was shown in order to demonstrate an alarm system in operation. "Mac" said he didn't believe that the Lions needed the picture for its moral aspects.

Arnold C. Barker, Auxiliary Fire Chief, was a guest at the meeting which was presided over by King Lion Dave Buxbaum. After the meeting Jack Tapper, Lion Tamer of the Club, rounded up a few would-be-could-be singers for what he hopes will turn out to be a sonorous sextette.

MASSACHUSETTS OSTEO-PATHIC HOSPITAL

Dr. Vincent N. Hammersten, 111 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, was last week elected president of the Boston Osteopathic Society. Dr. Hammersten is an associate director of the Out-Patient Department of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital, Jamaica Plain.

Dr. Alexander F. McWilliams, 130 Forest ave., West Newton, director of the Out-Patient Department of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital, is preparing the annual Christmas party, this Saturday at the hospital, for children using the clinics. This annual feature was inaugurated by Dr. McWilliams the first year the hospital opened, in 1923. Gifts to help make the party a success are invited, but they should be in money so as to make sure that children will receive gifts of equal value.

Officers of the Women's Association of the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital announce a highly successful outcome of its annual Christmas Bazaar, held last week in the Copley-Plaza Hotel. The table, staffed by the Association's Newton Auxiliary, was one of the most attractive there, and contributed greatly to the success of the affair. Mrs. Jennie M. Winn of Waltham was chairman, with Mrs. Albert E. Roberts, West Newton, and Mrs. George W. Bicknell, Holliston, as chairmen. They were assisted by: Mrs. Everett L. Pierce, Newton; Mrs. Harry E. Cash, Newton; Mrs. Clifford O. Mooney, Wrentham; Mrs. A. F. McWilliams, West Newton; Dr. Leonie Hutchinson, Arlington; Mrs. A. H. Melvin, Watertown; Dr. Mildred E. Greene, and Mrs. Ernest Upton, Waltham.

Post-War Planning

It is, with considerable satisfaction that I report herewith the creation by Mayor Paul M. Goddard of a committee to be known as the Mayor's Post-War Planning Committee. This committee, made up entirely of members of our Board of Aldermen, includes Alderman Louis A. Myers of Ward 3 as chairman and Aldermen Fred C. Alexander of Ward 2 and Wendell R. Bauckman of Ward 5. It is a very carefully selected group of men who have some special qualification for the work in hand.

Our neighboring community of Brookline appointed a similar committee a few weeks ago, but they have an entirely different situation, due to the fact that Brookline is badly in need of a new Town Hall, a fire station or two and several other buildings. In Newton, our building problem is more simple, due to the fact that we have a relatively new City Hall and adequate fire stations. Furthermore, we have been consistently taking care of the bulk of our requirements for schoolhouses during the past two decades. Nevertheless, post-war conditions are more or less unpredictable and it is just as well to have a high-grade committee on the job to watch the general situation from month to month.

Our Congressional District

The following may not make sense to some of my readers, but I can assure them that it bears looking into. Former Congressman George Holden Tinkham, the big-game hunter with the over-arching beard, who was frightened out of the last Congressional primary by the strong interventionist group in the Republican party, has been advised by many of his friends that it might be possible for him to stage a come-back and return to Congress, where he served for a prolonged period. But note, please, what he is considering doing. He is playing with the rather grotesque idea of running in the Democratic primary, despite the fact that he has been a lifelong Republican. Of course, he has always represented one of the Boston districts, which has numbered thousands of Democrats who still think that Mr. Tinkham is one of the greatest Congressmen who ever lived. And why not? He gave out more seeds, answered more mail promptly and did more favors, big and little, for his constituents than a half-dozen ordinary Congressmen. Tinkham has always owed his re-elections to the Democrats in Boston. Why, therefore, from a purely practical standpoint, should he NOT run in the Democratic primary? He could certainly defeat the average Democratic candidate, such as William A. Carey of the Boston City Council, the man who caused the sitting Congressman, Christian A. Herter of Boston, so much trouble in the 1942 election. Then would come the problem of holding in line the typical Republican voter, who might be decided to bolt Tinkham in the election, despite the fact that he or she had been in the habit of voting for this curious personality for many, many years.

I recommend watching this situation closely, especially if you are as interested as the writer in Congressman Herter's future. Even his political enemies will grant that he stands head and shoulders above the average political candidate. In ability, experience, education and general background, our present Congressman stands out like a beacon light in a storm. If we are smart, we will keep him where he is or else advance him to a higher office.

Dewey and Willkie
Raymond Clapper is one of our most reliable and intelligent commentators. That fact appears to be generally recognized. He does not pose as a political expert; however, he is frequently correct in his prophecies. A few nights ago, he made the statement that "It is almost a certainty that the Republican presidential candidate will be either Dewey or Willkie." He bases this statement on the results of the frequent Gallup polls, the amount of radio and news time that these two men have commanded and the constant attention given to their candidacies by most of the professional politicians.

What intrigues me at the moment is the fact that Clapper has nothing to say about what will happen in the event of a deadlock between these two leaders in the Gallup polls. I agree with Mr. Clapper that the other three candidates whom he mentions, General MacArthur, Lieutenant-Commander Stassen and Governor Bricker, are not destined to be very important factors at the G. O. P. convention. Despite the War Department's recent ruling, permitting generals and other members of the armed forces to accept political preference PROVIDED that they resign their posts PRIOR to engaging in a political campaign, I find it most difficult to visualize General MacArthur doing a right-about-face on his promise to keep up the good fight until the Philippines have been liberated. General Marshall, of course, is in somewhat the same position with the Democrats, although he may not have made the same sort of specific commitment as General MacArthur. As for Messrs. Bricker and Stassen, it does not seem likely that they will make much more progress than they have during the past few months.

My closing thought is, therefore, the growing likelihood that there will be a dark-horse nominee at the next G. O. P. convention. If so, what is wrong with our own Governor?

P. W. C.

Washington—In and around a sick bed you realize how much effort, patience and scientific study goes into the struggle to save a life or merely regain health. Then you pick up a newspaper and you read of secret weapons and other new inventions for taking life—or what is worse, maiming young bodies. It just doesn't make sense!

And as your eyes rest on a promise of a new crescendo of slaughter on the enemy it suddenly dawns on you that perhaps there is a way of avoiding wars in the future: Punish the instigators of war so severely that future, would-be Hitlers will never forget! It can be done.

After the last war the Allies had criminal war charges drawn up against more than 900 brutal and ruthless Huns. The new German government, which for some reason the Allies were catering to, shrewdly countered the demand for these war criminals by claiming that to deliver them to the Allies "would precipitate another civil war in the Reich." They did, however, offer to try the offenders according to "German laws" in their own courts. The Allies foolishly acquiesced.

Less than 50 of the 900 criminals were actually indicted and of those only two—U-boat commanders who had torpedoed hospital ships—were convicted. And even these two were permitted to escape from prison shortly after the trial.

This time the statesmen of the United Nations are working together harmoniously, not only to promote the war effort but in planning for a post-war world. We hope that at Teheran the three Allied leaders took up the question of punishing the Axis war criminals. And let us hope for the sake of humanity that no time is lost after Germany surrenders in bringing to trial before special United Nations tribunals, the guilty thousands.

The punishment should fit the crime. And the crime in every case is MURDER.

Little King Peter of Yugoslavia, who spent several months in the U. S. A. learned at least one lesson while here: not to depend too much on the future of the king business. Recently some friends visited him in Cairo and found Peter busy trying to re-assemble an old airplane engine in back of his home. Asked if this was a new hobby the little king replied with a sigh "Yes, I guess it is at the moment; but it may help me earn a livelihood later!"

Jim Wittered has come home and is plenty sore at us. Jim, if you must know, is the gawky Indiana boy who enlisted back in '17, landed in France, did plenty of fighting and then forgot to come back—until the American consul kicked him out in '40. During the interim Jim became one of the most beloved and successful publicists in Paris. Several months ago the Red Cross sent Jim abroad again. He returned the other day and called on us. His wise old eyes fixed on the Capitol dome visible from the open window where he sat, Jim was "beside" about the petty politicians in high places who "are more concerned about holding their jobs than winning this war." "I'm an old Republican from way back," Jim was saying, "but I tell you that it's a crime to permit a lot of petty politicians to belittle our war effort just because the other party happens to be on top. From what I've seen over there," continued Jim, "the U. S. has performed miracles. Why, compared to the last war, our boys are not only much better trained to fight—and defend themselves, but the care they receive is something we never even dreamed of in the last war. Say boys, it couldn't be, by any chance, that our Commander-in-Chief might have had something to do with it—or am I talking too much?"

At that moment the wind seemed to have changed direction and an objectionable odor came in through the window. "Wind blowing in from the direction of the Capitol," said Jim, taking a sniff. "Could it be some of those politicians?"

"Maybe," said we, "although it could be some of our lobbyists releasing more hot air."

"Yeah, guess you're right boys, the smell is pretty awful even for ordinary politicians. Have lots of lobbyists in town nowadays?" "Never were they more numerous," Jim was assured.

"There's the answer," said Jim, rising. "I'm accustomed to the smell of politicians, but I can't stand vermin. Guess I'll be traveling."

The last heard of Jim Wittered he was heading straight for the sweet scented parts of Carnarsie, the place where they salvage clean garbage.

We were having our hallway done over at home and out of sheer curiosity were watching the man apply paste to the wallpaper. And for no other reason than that we felt foolish watching another man work while we were idle, we mentioned the war and Adolf Hitler. Then the man blew up and for a minute we were certain that the paste brush was going to do us harm.

"Can't a fellow work at his trade without being reminded of that guy. Did anybody ever say he was a good paperhanger? It's an insult to an honest profession!"

We apologized, assuring him

we'd never bring up the subject again, but it took a swig out of that pinched bottle we're saving for New Year's to finally pacify our paperhanger.

Kiwanis Activities

The new members were inducted into the Newton Kiwanis Club at last Tuesday's meeting, Harry Twigg and Bob Burns. Ed De-rocher took charge of the induction and presented the new members with their credentials. Ed also reminded the club members to make reservations for the joint meeting with the Lions on Thursday, December 16th.

President Jim Riggs announced that January 4, 1944, is the date set for the installation of the newly elected officers. The meeting is called for six-thirty o'clock and Jim Gallagher will be the installing officer. Ladies are invited and entertainment will be a part of the program.

Members of the club gave Ben Louis a rising vote of thanks for his work in connection with the publication of "What's Cooking in Newton?" and President "Jim" commended Ben personally.

Announcement was made concerning the Christmas party to be given to the children of the Peabody Home on December 23. George Van Buskirk suggested that presents for the children be brought to club meeting next Tuesday.

Dr. Homer W. Anderson, Acting Superintendent of the Newton School, will be next week's speaker.

Ben Louis introduced Mr. Louis T. Maloney of the State O. P. A. office, who spoke on price control. Mr. Maloney said that much of the resentment on the part of the public toward the O. P. A. is due, first to poor information and second, to complex regulations. Steps are being taken to see that the public is more adequately informed and also to simplify regulations. "We need to imagine ourselves in a situation without price control to be sold on it." The present cost of living is below that of World War I, and so far $70,000,000 have been saved. Mr. Maloney mentioned some regulations that have had to be "tailor-made" for certain industries, and also said that no regulations can be made without previous conference with a segment of the industry which will be affected—364 War Price and Rationing Boards control prices in Massachusetts. He said that most complaints are settled by local price panels composed of neighbors of the local retailer and that very few complaints cannot be settled locally. He mentioned the fact that published ceiling prices help small retailers to fix prices which will enable them to remain in business.

Several very pertinent questions were asked following Mr. Maloney's presentation and his answers helped to clarify the price control situation.

CHRISTMAS PLAY IN ELIOT CHURCH

A community Christmas play, "The Gallant Pilgrim" by Evelyn Grant Hornsey, will be presented on Christmas Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Eliot Church of Newton, under the direction of Mrs. Bessie M. Stratton, director of Religious Education of The Eliot Church. The charm of this play of the Middle Ages will delight young and old alike. The lighting effects, the stage settings, the artistic costumes, all will combine to make this a production of interest and beauty. An added feature of the play is the fact that the cast is an interchurch one in which all the churches of Newton are joining.

CANTEEN FOR NEWTON VETERANS

A West Newton Canteen Unit served the 43 men who left Newton City Hall on Tuesday, December 14, for service in the armed forces. Mrs. Davis DeBard was in charge, and was assisted by Mrs. F. H. Fowle and Mrs. Edmund Miller.

A graduate of the Dorchester, Mass., high school, Lieutenant Lurensky also studied at the College of Business Administration, Boston University, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in business administration and the degree of Master of Commercial Science. He was assistant treasurer of Temple Sinai, in Boston.

Extend Call To Rev. C. A. Wood

Immanuel Baptist Church at a special meeting Sunday, Dec. 12, extended a call to Rev. Clarence Arthur Wood of Fort Edward, N. Y., to be its pastor.

Rev. Mr. Wood, a native of Rochester, N. Y., is 35 years of age. He was graduated from Rochester University and from Andover-Newton Theological Institution of this city. He has been successful pastorates in Meredith, N. H., Newburgh, N. Y., and Ft. Edward, N. Y. He is married and is the father of a son aged five and a half years. Rev. Mr. Wood has accepted the call and will begin his new duties early in January. He comes to Newton with a fine record as a forceful speaker, a tireless worker and as a pastor who had built up every church which he has served.

NURSING ASSOCIATION

The December meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association was held at the Second Church in West Newton and the Board of Directors were glad to welcome, as they do each year, the volunteers to the Well Baby Conferences and the Staff of Nurses.

Mrs. Maurice B. Biscoe showed a sample of the Christmas Baskets which will be distributed among some of the patients of the Association and was glad to report that some of the Girl Scouts were making the attractive decorations of greens for the baskets.

Miss Hilga Nelson, executive director, reports heavier work for the nurses and said that it is gratifying to see the increase in immunization work and "patch" tests given, proving that mothers are realizing more and more the importance of preventive medicine.

Mrs. Wallace M. Ross, chairman of the Well Baby Conference committee, explained in detail, the working of her committee and then turned the meeting over to Miss Charlotte Stearns, the nurse in charge of the Well Baby Conference held weekly at Second Church. Miss Stearns stressed the importance in having the child brought to the conference at as early an age as possible. Most babies are kept in the conference until they are two years old, at which time they are turned over to the preschool conference conducted at City Hall by the Newton Board of Health. A true demonstration of what actually takes place at a conference then followed. Two volunteers, Miss Hartell and Mrs. Aronson, assisted Miss Hartell taking the case history of the baby and Mrs. Aronson weighing the babies. The first mother brought twins; the second, a two months old colored baby; and the third, a boy of 13 months. It was a most interesting and instructive meeting and gave the directors a splendid picture of one of the most important phases of the work of the Newton District Nursing Association.

UNITED STATES POST OFFICE

Public Should Co-operate with Post Office

Despite the efforts of the Post Office Department to expedite local mail delivery, the public disregards the large sign placed over a special mail sack in the lobby of the Newton Corner 58 Branch by Sup't. J. F. O'Gorman. He states the notice reads, "Deposit Mail Here for Newton 58 Branch" and the patrons continue to drop Air Mails, Special Delivery and letters to all parts of the world in this special sack which is intended solely for local mail to be delivered by the Newton Corner letter carriers. By placing Newton 58 mail in this sack the letters are delivered on the very next trip by the carriers. All other letters, including the other Newton branches, should be placed in the spaces marked "Outgoing Letters." There is a special slot for Airmail-Special Delivery letters and patrons drop them into the papers' slot or the ordinary letter receptacle. To assist patrons, a special table has been placed in the left-hand corner of the lobby where only 1, 2 and 3c stamps are sold, in order to help patrons from losing time by waiting in the line at the Parcel Post windows. The public is urged to use the proper zone numbers on all outgoing letters especially those addressed to any station or branch in the Boston Postal District. The list of numbers will be gladly furnished at any window in the local post office and will enable the letter to be delivered much sooner than they would be if the zone number is left off.

AUBURDALE REVIEW CLUB

The December fourteenth meeting of the Review Club was one of unusual interest. The subjects of the papers were varied. From Mrs. McDonald's paper there were many lessons from the lives of people who have overcome great handicaps. Mrs. Tenney reviewed the life of Mary Lyon and the founding of Mt. Holyoke College. Mrs. DeWitt in her usual apt way gave the highlights of Mrs. Appleby.

At the close of the regular meeting Mrs. Arthur Robinson shared with the club the story of the "treissholm" and life in the camps in China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, where the missionaries were interned and lived for long months under very crowded conditions. She told of the joyous reunions of families who had been separated for long years and months. The club was grateful to Mrs. Robinson for the information she gave in such an interesting way.

There will be community singing of some of the old familiar Christmas hymns and carols led by Mrs. Oedell. Mrs. John G. Aldinger will be the accompanist. Mrs. H. Augustine Smith, president of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club will extend the Season's Greetings on behalf of the Club.

WOMEN'S EDUCATIONAL CLUB

West Newton Women's Educational Club held its regular meeting, Friday, December 10, at 2 o'clock in the Second Church Parish House with Mrs. C. Warren Howe presiding. There were many guests and members present who enjoyed a program on Dickens by Mr. Edward Payne an authority on Dickens. Mr. Payne drew several pictures of famous Dickens characters in colored crayons while giving a short recitation on each.

A musical program followed which was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Courtange, the music chairman of the Club. A vested quartette and Mrs. Albert Kreider, violinist assisted in the singing of Christmas carols. Mrs. Courtange gave a reading "The Origin of Holy Night."

A reception to the Past Presidents of the Club was held in the Church Parlors while refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee with Mrs. Earl D. Brackett as chairman of the day. The funds of the Ways and Means Committee were swelled by the sale of food and fancy articles.

HOLIDAY SCHEDULES FOR RED CROSS WORKROOMS

All Newton Red Cross Sewing workrooms will be closed during the weeks of Christmas and New Year with the exception of the Newton Center workroom which will be open both weeks, announces Mrs. Ernest R. Cooper, Sewing Chairman of the Newton Red Cross.

Mrs. Charles E. Spencer Jr., chairman of Surgical Dressings, announces that the Surgical Dressing workrooms in Newton will be closed Christmas week and open the week of New Year. Mrs. Spencer urges all volunteers to attend regularly this month in order to complete Newton's Surgical Dressing quota for December and to earn the holiday.

Practice Music Before Dinner

Set apart the hour before dinner for your children to practice their music, is the suggestion offered parents by Verona Durick of 375 Newtonville ave., pianist, and teacher at the Longy School.

"Boys and girls often dislike music because they are made to practice right after school; then they need a change from work and active play out of doors," Miss Durick said in an interview. "But later, after they have let off steam and the air has refreshed them, they settle down more easily to quiet activities."

It is a great help to child and teacher when the mother is in the house at practice time, and of greater help if she can guide the practicing. It works well if she expects the child to do what he can alone, and call upon her when really needed.

Children's interest is more apt to continue if they are not limited to private instruction on a single instrument, is Miss Durick's opinion. Affiliation with a school is stimulating, as it gives contacts with others at the same stage of progress; by learning, at the same time, ear training, reading and sight singing, music comes to life for the child, and progress is faster.

At the Longy School the child learns not only to play the instrument of his choice but to play before other children from 7 to 13 years of age, teachers and parents at the Saturday morning assemblies.

He has fun recognizing selections, singing, and learning about the different instruments in the symphony orchestra.

To facilitate transportation, Newton pupils may take their weekly piano lesson from Miss Durick at her Newtonville ave. studio. The Saturday work is held at the school in Cambridge. The second session begins January 3.

MAIL FOR PRISONERS-OF-WAR IN JAPAN

The Newton Red Cross has recently received instructions regarding mail to be sent prisoners-of-war held by the Japanese. A new regulation forbids the sending of letters of over 25 words in length, they must be printed in "cap" letters, clearly legible, (this is preferred over typing), and they may contain only personal and family news.

Home Service also says that only four letters are allowed each prisoner a month, so it is advisable for friends to allow members of the family to have first chance to communicate with the men. They also say that the instructions regarding the kind of message to send should be strictly followed, as the Japanese punish the prisoner if any messages to him contain forbidden news. The utmost care must be taken in writing the correct, exact address.

MOTHER WRITES SONG "WINGED VICTORY" IN MEMORY OF SON

Expressing in music, the pride, which a mother feels, when a gallant son, bravely, and with a smile, offers his life for his country, Mrs. Lillian W. Thornequist of 189 Bellevue st., Newton, composed the song "Winged Victory," which was published by G. Schirmer of New York in September of 1942.

It is a stirring, martial, composition, and has been sung over WNAC by Mr. Walter Kidder and Mr. George Wheeler with Francis Cronin at the organ. At the head of the song, one finds this dedication:

"Dedicated to the memory of my son, Ensign C. Macgregor Thornequist USNR, Patrol Plane Commander, who lost his life in line of duty, in the icy North Atlantic on Nov. 2nd, 1941."

It is fitting that Ensign Thornequist should be remembered in this way, for he was a musician himself and was entering his unit with his accordion the night before his last flight.

Mrs. Thornequist was contralto soloist for 14 years at the Mt. Vernon Church in Boston, and her husband, Carl J. Thornequist, has been a member of the Boston Stock Exchange since 1908 and has been an organist at various churches for 24 years. They have two other sons, Lt. Commander Hamilton Thornequist, who was former city editor of the Transcript, and Midshipman Burton Thornequist who is attending the midshipman's school at Notre Dame.

He writes that he is receiving excellent care by the "way" medical corps and the Red Cross in a large hospital somewhere in Italy.

In a later letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Cossaboom of 22 Winona st., Auburndale, Pfc. Cossaboom informs them that he has received the "Purple Heart" award.

Pfc. Cossaboom was with the 45th division which has distinguished itself in both the Sicilian and Italian campaigns. Prior to his induction in June 1942 he resided with his wife at 61 Walker st., Newtonville.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST OF NEWTON

391 Walnut St., Newtonville
Services—Sunday, 10:45—
Wednesday, 7:45

In The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all of its branches, a Lesson-Sermon will be read on Sunday, Dec. 19, 1943, on the subject "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

The Golden Text from Hebrews 11:3 will be "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." Other Bible citations will include, "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him. That which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past" (Ecclesiastes 3:14, 15).

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include, "The offspring of God start not from matter or ephemeral dust. They are in and of Spirit, divine Mind, and so forever continue. . . . The great I AM made all 'that was made.' Hence men and the spiritual universe co-exist with God" (p. 267).

Rotary Club

Thomas J. Macgowan, scout executive of Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, was the speaker at the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club held on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Mr. Macgowan, speaking on "Why I Believe in Scouting," stated that any organization whose keynote is the Scout Oath and Scout Law is a worthy one. He illustrated each aspect of the Scout Law with a personal story.

In listing some of the Scout contributions to the war, Mr. Macgowan said that 300,000 barrels of potatoes were picked this fall by Scouts in Aroostook County in Maine, a single Scout having picked 1045 barrels. During the first paper salvage drive, he said, Scouts collected three million pounds at the rate of 50 million per month until the government announced that it had enough waste paper. He said the Scouts' aid in the ARP, War Bond campaign, and model airplane making was of such importance that it received recognition in the Congressional Record. Mr. Macgowan stated that one-fourth of the men in the armed services are former Boy Scouts and that 67 per cent of the men decorated for heroism are former Boy Scouts.

A campaign to start 1000 new units in the New England Boy Scout movement is now underway, he stated. The campaign aims to enroll 8000 more boys and 4000 adult leaders, with the share of Norumbega Council being 2000 men and boys, Mr. Macgowan concluded.

Visiting Rotarians were Charles Hewitt, Walter Phillips, Louis Bachrach and Fred Morgan, all of the Boston Club, and Walter Bailey and James O'Connell of the Watertown Club. Alden Haffner and Edward Sherman were guests.

Howard Selby, head of the United Farmers Co-operative Cream Association, was inducted into membership. He was formerly a member of the Springfield, West Palm Beach, Fla., and Lyndon, Vt., Rotary Clubs. He was International Director of Rotary in 1941.

"Children's Day" will be noted at the meeting of the club next Monday, when Elliot Smith, magician, will entertain.

Nutrition Program

In most cities the nutrition program is set up under one specific health agency and so does not reach the people until illness is apparent. The Newton program, Miss Parsons stated, is therefore superior in that nutrition education is available to a large group of people in their early stages of difficulty and is not restricted to those of limited income.

Favour reported that in the Newton Hospital she assists in diabetic and pre-natal clinics in the outpatient department, where in addition to prescribing special diets and effort is made to improve the general nutritional habits of the patient at all times. Budget assistance is also given where indicated and in this line the Nutritionist works closely with the Welfare Department and other Newton agencies.

In summing up the program, Mrs. Favour pointed out that she works directly with four Newton agencies and serves on various advisory committees including the Red Cross Nutrition Committee. In addition she is available for educational work with clubs and other groups requesting her assistance. Plans were made for subjects to be considered during the coming year. The meeting was attended by Mrs. George Hinman, Acting Chairman, Mrs. Philip Warren, Mrs. Barbara Favour, Miss Grace Lawrence, Harold Gores, Dr. Ernest Morris and Miss Harriet L. Parsons, guests. Also invited to the meeting was Dr. Phelps of Harvard Medical School.

Capt. Arthur E. Andres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Andres of 1590 Centre st., Newton Centre, was recently decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary heroism in New Guinea. He is a survivor of a 26-day ordeal when lost in the island jungle.

Mr. and Mrs. Andres received a telephone call from Governor Leverett Saltonstall following a review at West Point when Capt. Andres was decorated with the Purple Heart, and also a letter confirming the telephone call in which he said:

"Mrs. Saltonstall and I felt very proud to be Newton citizens when this medal of honor was conferred on your son," he said, "and I do not know of a more thrilling sight than a review of West Point cadets particularly on such an occasion."

FIRE CHIEF SUGGESTS SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

Christmas is coming! Keep it merry. Keep it bright. Keep it safe! Fire tragedy at Yuletide is unthinkable—yet it happens.

Almost all fires are started by carelessness and those fires can be eliminated by removing the possibilities of fires. Follow these suggestions:

Avoid toys operated with flammable liquids. Celluloid toys burn with surprising ferocity.

Use metal tinsel, flake asbestos and powdered mica for snow effects instead of paper and cotton.

Keep matches and smoking materials away from temporary accumulations of package wrappings. If anyone's clothing ignites, roll him at once in a rug or a woolen blanket.

Take no chances with defective temporary wiring. Due to priorities and restrictions in the manufacture of electrical goods, there may be widespread use of OLD wiring and lights, and of candles and other illumination.

Keep combustible materials such as package wrappings, decorations, curtains, etc., away from possible contact with open flames of candles, fireplaces and stoves.

Flameproof costumes, decorations and scenery by spraying them with the following solution: Borax, 7 oz.; boric acid, 3 oz.; hot water, 2 qts. Another spray: Use 15 per cent solution sulphate of ammonia.

Have an extinguisher or bucket of water handy, in case of fire. CALL THE FIRE DEPARTMENT AT ONCE!

Thanking you for your co-operation, I am,
Very truly yours,
JOHN L. KEATING,
Chief of Fire Department.

STRIKE AVERTED

Employees of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway at a meeting held yesterday voted to allow the War Labor Board until December 24 to make a new ruling on their demand for a wage increase of seven cents per hour.

A strike which would have tied up the bus service in 15 communities through which the M. & B. bus lines run, has therefore been averted for the present.

The employees met in Hibernian Hall, Waltham, where they were addressed by Lawrence J. Duffy, president of the local union of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America who told them he had been assured yesterday morning by Saul Wallen, War Labor Board chairman that the WLB would consider new evidence in the case if the bus drivers did not go out on strike.

Others who addressed the employees were Frank C. Burke of Waltham, member of the labor division of the WPB, and John F. O'Brien of Lawrence, an international vice-president of the Carmen's Union. All three appealed to the patriotism of the drivers to avoid war production delays.

The company operates 135 buses and employs 250 drivers. The meeting was in two sessions, with the day workers meeting at 8 p. m. and the night men at 1 a. m. today.

Newton Man At Cairo Meeting

John F. Chester of 15 Bow rd., Newton Centre, former chief of the Boston bureau of the Associated Press, was present as a correspondent at the recent Cairo conference.

While in London early in November he was ordered to go to Cairo, and in a letter received by his wife shortly after he received the new assignment he expressed disappointment at the transfer as he felt there would be little news of great importance from Egypt. Mrs. Chester also received a cable from her husband nearly three weeks ago stating that he had reached Cairo but no hint was given of the great event that was to take place there.

Mr. Chester who was born in Falls Church, Virginia, a suburb of Washington, D. C., was graduated in 1927 from Connecticut Wesleyan University. He first served as a reporter on the Christian Science Monitor in Boston and New York. In 1929 he joined the Associated Press and served for two years as White House correspondent, returning to Boston 7 years ago as chief of the local bureau of the Associated Press. He was sent to London as a correspondent in July of this year.

The Chesters have three children, Patricia, 8, William, 6, and Margaret, 4, the two oldest attending the public school in Newton Centre.

Mrs. Chester's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell, are residing in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Mr. Caldwell is United States minister to Ethiopia. He was formerly consul general at Tientsin, China where he and Mrs. Caldwell were interned by the Japanese. They returned to the United States on the diplomat exchange ship Gripsholm in August 1942.

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION, INC.

Long before 10:30 Tuesday morning, Dec. 7, directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association began to assemble at the Nurses' Home of the Newton Hospital to buy Christmas presents at the annual "treasure sale" conducted by Mrs. Francis H. Williams and her staff from the Hospital Benefit Shop. Pottery, silver, linen, flowers, potted plants, and an endless variety of art objects created great buying enthusiasm both before and after the regular monthly meeting of the directors, while a steady trickle of quarters, half-dollars and dollar bills flowed into the coffers of the Benefit Shop, whence it will later make its way back to the hospital to pay for additional equipment.

When Mrs. Charles B. Floyd, president of the Association, called the meeting to order, reports were given first by the clerk, Mrs. Walter L. McGill, and the treasurer, Miss Maida Flanders. It was revealed that there was a balance in the fund allotted to the Association's free bed in the hospital, and the directors voted to reserve this amount for emergencies, as well as to make available the usual sum for the free bed for next year.

Mrs. Williams then reported that, through the generous efforts of friends, sufficient fuel had been donated to the Benefit Shop to fill its needs for the coming winter and probably longer. As the cold weather progresses, requests by customers for men's and boys' clothing are on the increase, according to Mrs. Williams. Rubbers and overalls, even if worn, can be utilized, and furniture of all kinds is gladly received.

In the report given by Mrs. Walter L. McGill as manager of the Coffee Shop, the directors heard figures that proved the unqualified success of this latest and most ambitious project of the Hospital Aid Association. It should be understood that the Coffee Shop, which includes an inviting Gift Shop, stands ready to serve not only the hospital personnel and visitors to patients, but the general public as well. Since its opening last summer the shop has been patronized by approximately 26,000 customers. According to Mrs. D. Morley Lodge, the treasurer, who also gave a report, receipts have been such as to enable the Coffee Shop to make a substantial repayment on the loan which it received at the start from the Hospital Aid Association.

Mrs. Floyd expressed her personal commendation of the Coffee Shop organization and the type of service it is giving, but stressed that at certain times they could use more volunteer helpers. Anyone willing to give a few hours' time either in the kitchen or at the soda fountain will be cordially welcomed. Word should be sent to Mrs. Walter M. Marston, Deatur 0505, who will be able to arrange transportation for groups of six who apply promptly, to attend a preliminary demonstration of fountain technique at the Hood Ice Cream Company plant in Somerville.

Officers of the Coffee and Gift Shop organization are: Mrs. Walter L. McGill, manager; Mrs. Charles B. Floyd, assistant manager; Mrs. D. Morley Lodge, treasurer; Miss Maida Flanders, assistant treasurer; Mrs. G. W. Armstrong, Mrs. Edward Sawyer, co-chairmen of the Gift Shop; and Mrs. Walter M. Marston, chairman of volunteers. Following is a list of sub-chairmen of volunteers and the days for which they are responsible:

Monday, Miss Marguerite Flanders, Newton Centre.
Tuesday, Miss Dorothy Simpson, Newton.
Wednesday, Mrs. John Eaton, West Newton.
Thursday, Mrs. Brewer Eddy, Newtonville.
Friday, Mrs. David Weden, Wellesley.
Saturday, Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Newton Highlands.
Sunday, Mrs. Francis F. Munroe, Waban.

As their outside speaker for Tuesday morning, the directors attended to Miss Phyllis Keene, scholarship graduate in 1937 from the Newton Hospital School of Nursing, where she is at present the clinical teaching supervisor and director of health. Experienced as a volunteer in the Red Cross nursing service, Miss Keene is now about to join a rehabilitation unit made up of doctors and nurses bound for Athens, Greece. Her assignment to work among the child victims of malnutrition in that occupied country testifies not only to her personal qualifications but also to the fine type of training she received at the Newton Hospital.

Rotary Club

Invocation: Grant that for all of us, O God, the keeping of Christmas may be a blessing to ourselves, a benefit to our fellows, an enrichment to the world in faith, in hope, in lasting peace. Amen.

Rev. Ray A. Eusden.

What a happy day it was! One hundred kids—counting old and young—for the grand Christmas party. Dressed in their Sunday best and on excellent behavior, the dads and their children watched with eager attention the legedomain of Elliott Smith. His line of chatter and his smart tricks made this annual party the highlight of the year.

Clare Leonard, Ted's (Dr. Edwin P., Jr.) brother, who teaches music at Vassar College, presided at the piano, while Cecil Clark led the children in Christmas carols singing. The dinner was good, too—with butter for the children.

Walter Weidig made a strong plea for news to be sent to the boys overseas in the newspaper published by Newton service clubs—"What's Cookin' in Newton." Send all information or news items to Walter Weidig, "What's Cookin' in," Box 55, Newton, Mass.

Among the outside Rotarians present were Jimmie O'Connell, Ralph Mason, Roy Blanchard and Fred Heaney, all of the Watertown Club, Thomas F. Murray and Walter Phillips of the Boston Club, and Chet Eaton of the Needham Club, as well as Theodore E. Stevenson, a guest of Francis L. Buswell.

A Merry Christmas To All

Is Overcome By Monoxide Gas

Charles W. Fisher of 95 Erie ave., Newton Highlands, was accidentally overcome by carbon monoxide gas in his garage on Thursday morning after he had started his car and was waiting for it to warm up.

Shortly after he had gone to the garage, his wife, on remembering a message that she had forgotten to give him, went out to the garage and discovered that he had been partially overcome by the fumes. She summoned a physician and her husband was revived and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Kiwanis Activities

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club were treated to a surprise last Tuesday when Santa Claus, with his traditional bundle of toys, suddenly appeared at the window of the dining room. George Van Buskirk played the part of perfection, and by means of a ladder scaled the walls of the Y. M. C. A. and entered into the meeting by way of an open window. The toys in his pack will be given to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

Vice-President Walter Hood, presided at the meeting in place of Pres. Jim Riggs, who was present for only a few minutes. Christmas carols were sung after the meal. Members of the club were reminded of the Christmas party to be held at the Peabody Home on December 23.

The speaker next week will be Mr. C. W. Larson Anderson, head of the Boston American Chapter of the American Red Cross. The speaker of the day was introduced by Program Chairman Ben Louis as a man of wide experience in the field of education. Dr. Homer W. Anderson, Superintendent of the Newton Schools spoke on the subject: "Education of Youth in America." He said, "Hitler has proved that the education of youth can be tied up to almost any philosophy and succeed." Dr. Anderson spoke about the three inalienable rights mentioned in the Constitution of the United States—Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. He said that Life, itself, means growth, and that many people are likely to die intellectually before their time. He said, "There is no limit to spiritual and moral growth but intellectual growth must go along with it." In speaking of Liberty and Freedom, he said that the Autocratic way of running the home and the school is the easiest way, and he spoke of the responsibility of the school to teach something about the struggle for freedom and its place in life, as well as the responsibilities connected with its possession. "Freedom must be enjoyed within limits," he said. With reference to the pursuit of Happiness, Dr. Anderson said that first of all people must earn the right to happiness. "Getting something for nothing" is not the American way; success comes with effort.

Newton friends will be interested to know that James H. MacNorton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. MacNorton of Bedford, formerly of West Newton, is serving in the Navy and is now in Attu. Born in Newton, he attended the Newton schools, Williston Academy, and Syracuse University. He left Syracuse in September, 1942 to join the Navy and received his training at the Naval Aeronautical School in Lakehurst, New Jersey.

NEWTON PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS IS GRADUATED

The class in public speaking and personality development which has been meeting for the past ten weeks at the Newton Y. M. C. A. held its graduation exercises at the City Club in Boston Friday evening.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. has been sponsoring these classes for nearly fifteen years and they have always proved popular. For the last two years these classes have been conducted by E. J. Pease, who conducts similar classes at the Boston Y. M. C. A. and other nearby cities. He is former instructor for the Dale Carnegie Institute and has been conducting these classes in public speaking and personality development for many years.

The class which has just graduated voted to join with other classes in forming an alumnae association of the E. J. Pease Course graduates covering the entire Eastern Massachusetts area.

Mr. Walter Bruton of the Newton Y. M. C. A. was one of the speakers at the graduation exercises. Mr. Bruton has been in charge of organizing these classes for most of the fifteen years during which they have been conducted in Newton.

Mr. Clarence Mease, general secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., also spoke enthusiastically of the value of these classes and their contribution to Newton business men and young people.

Junior Red Cross Sends Christmas Cheer To Armed Forces

Members of the Newton Junior Red Cross are seeing to it that the men and women in the armed forces are getting their share of Christmas "fixin's," reports Miss Calista Roy, chairman of the group. "The school children of Newton have responded magnificently to all requests. It is impossible to give complete details of the work done, but a few examples will show the scope of their efforts."

From Warren Junior High is being sent 1000 packs of cigarettes, gift wrapped with a book of matches, to the Chelsea Naval Hospital. The Weeks Junior High is sending 450 similar Christmas cigarette packs to the Brighton Marine Hospital. The Bigelow Junior High students made 50 cribbage boards for the Marine Hospital and the Newton High School sent 350 candy table favors to the hospital. Junior Red Cross also sent 180 boxes to army nurses stationed in Massachusetts—the boxes being planned and filled by students of the elementary and Junior High schools.

10 RAISED FOR CHURCH BUILDING FUND HERE

The Community Thanksgiving Service held in the Auburn Congregational Church an offering of over $600 was raised for building fund of the Church of the Messiah, which was recently destroyed by fire.

The offering is to be used for purchase of a new lectern, and other furnishings when church is rebuilt.

The sermon was by Rev. Richard P. McClintock, rector of the Church of the Messiah, who said in part:

"We have borrowed a church to hold this service. We have borrowed a choir (a good one, too), we have even borrowed a gown from the rector. And we have borrowed a congregation from somewhere."

"We give thanks to God for the gift of good fellowship and neighborly sympathy that makes this borrowing possible."

Mr. Murphy has two of our Newtonvilleizens of like interests at this school. Attention! Chief Pharmacist Mate Dorenbaum, Instructor, on the lookout for Harold F. Murphy Seaman, 2nd Class, who wants to increase his knowledge of the "Why's and Wherefores of Pills, Etc."

Narrow Escapes Steady Diet For Lt. Hanson of Newton

Narrow escapes have become almost a steady diet for Lt. Hanson. In the battle in which he shot down his first Zero, a 20-mm. shell from the Jap plane ripped through his right wing exploding the heavy caliber ammunition in his wing guns. He shot the Zero down with the remaining guns of his left wing and brought his badly damaged plane back to base safely.

Less than a month later he claimed his second Zero while on a bomber escort mission against a Jap airfield on Bougainville Island in the Northern Solomons. Although the supercharger of his plane stopped functioning, forcing him to drop to a lower altitude, he shot the Zero down in flames.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Hanson, have been missionaries in India since 1917. They have four other children, Mark, 25, an ASTP student at University of Missouri; Stanley, 19, in the Navy V-12 program at St. Peter, Minn.; Earl, 17, a student at Newton High School, and Edith, 4.

"HONOR ROLL" PLAQUE DEDICATED AT CHURCH

It will thrill the hearts of those in the Service to know that the First Methodist Church of Newton was filled to capacity for the "Honor Roll" Service Plaque dedication. Chaplain Charles F. Murphy of the Chaplain's Training School at Harvard, and Mr. A. P. Hartshorn, Chairman of the Service Committee, assisted the pastor in the dedication.

It was dedicated in honor of the men and women who have gone from the church to serve the call of the nation, to the spirit of America and to the glory of God, that the inspiration of the service of our own young men and young women might be remembered here in the church of their choice.

Weeks Junior High School Program of War Work

Weeks Junior High School follows a broad and continuous program of war work. Pupils collected 16,827 pounds of paper in one week in November. On the opening day of the year's War Stamp and Bond sales campaign, they bought over $7 per pupil to lead Newton's interschool contest. The drive for such campaigns comes from the pupils' own organization, the Weeks Volunteers. Starting with one division in December, 1941, it now includes the whole school. An elected Board of Strategy stimulates volunteer committees to salvage everything from grease to coathangers. A Junior Citizens Committee has raised money for nearly 100 shaving kits, and is now rehearsing a Red Cross Benefit Show. Other groups have gathered 1980 pounds of rubber, 150 pounds of silk, and 300 pounds of keys.

Besides pupil activities of these kinds, the administration and curriculum builders have made adaptations in courses of study and club programs to give insight into war aims and prepare pupils for military postwar life. In art classes several hundred menu cards were made for hospitals, and in woodworking classes precision plane models by the score are being built for the Army. Home Nursing and Red Cross classes, pre-aviation training instruction and ARP training take the place of clubs for fun.

NEWTON TEACHER HOME ON LEAVE

Ensign Katherine Curtis of the WAVES, who left her position as a biology teacher in Newton's science department last year to enter the service, was back at Newton on leave recently.

Miss Curtis is now an officer at Hunter College, New York, where she is a company commander. Her duties include the supervision and discipline of 200 girls and seven officers.

Roaming Around Newton

Lieut. John Leary, former coach at Sacred Heart High School is assistant recreational director at the Newport Naval Training Station. Previous to this he held a similar post at the Navy Operating Base at Iceland.

Rev. Philip G. McConville, '34, first alumnus of Sacred Heart High School to be ordained to the priesthood, celebrated his first solemn Mass in the Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, Nov. 7th. Music was rendered by the student body of the school. Most Reverend Richard J. Cushing, D.D., LL. D. was seated in the sanctuary and delivered the eulogy.

Under the leadership of Misses Eleanor Bright, Delphine Barry, and Claire Lyons the girls of the class of 1939 recently held a reunion in a Boston hotel. All the boys of the class are on active military duty.

A solemn pontifical high Mass was celebrated by Bishop Richard J. Cushing at the Sacred Heart Church on Nov. 4th for Flight Sgt. Richard DeBourke '36, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, reported missing in action since March 10th in the African area. The entire student body of the school sang the Mass.

The Citizen's Advisory Committee for Returning Veterans has just been organized, with Charles B. Floyd its chairman.

The formation of the committee is in line with the request of Governor Saltonstall that cities and towns throughout the state set up advisory committees to work with the Re-employment Committee of selective service boards.

Postmaster reports that mail is heavier this year than ever. It is being handled efficiently with the help of hundreds of schoolboys and army trucks which have been pressed into service to haul the mail.

In spite of the warning that Christmas trees would be scarce this year because of the shortage of manpower, there seems to be more trees around than ever before. Many gasoline stations are selling them, and the prices are pretty fancy.

Christmas candles have made their appearance in windows. Last year they were banned because of dim-out regulations. Most people will have them lighted on the holidays only, to save fuel.

Special Christmas music was featured at all Newton churches last Sunday.

BOMBING TEST POSTPONED
Because of the extreme cold and high winds, the Air Raid Bombing Test, which was to have been held on Sunday, Dec. 12, had to be postponed. Last week the mercury hovered near or below zero continuously for several days.

History repeated itself recently at the Masonic Temple, Newtonville, when the original officers who founded Norumbega Lodge 23 years ago again filled the chairs. About 100 were present to see this first line of officers headed by Rt. Wor. Fred Blanchard and to hear the Rev. Hamilton Mellyar Liechliter, the lodge's first chaplain.

Men and women in the armed services from St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, are receiving from the pastor, Rev. Roger Bennett, a set of pictures of the church and local scenes. Each person receives a basic set of five pictures of general interest. Relatives and friends then pick out five more pictures of special interest to that particular person.

A PRAYER

(The following prayer is offered at the Morning Service of Worship every Sunday by the congregation of The Eliot Church of Newton, Rev. Ray A. Eusden, D.D., Minister.)

O God, our Father, we commend to thy loving care all who serve their country and the cause of freedom in this time of war. Wherever they may be—in the armed forces, on the home front, or as prisoners of war—keep them strong and steadfast. Inspire them with devotion to the cause for which they are making sacrifice and offering their lives. Through them may the whole world find a just and lasting peace. Hold thou in thy holy keeping all those, dear unto them, whom they have left behind. Help them also to live victoriously and may they be worthy of the freedom for which men fight.

CHARLESBANK ROAD AIDS IN WAR EFFORT

Charlesbank rd. is not a long street nor a wide one either, but it is ideally representative of an American community and its ever-ready spirit to help their fellow man and their nation when in need and always ready to protect that freedom we all love so dear.

We have just finished our annual canvass for funds to the 1944 War Fund, formerly known as the Community Chest Fund, on Charlesbank rd. In wandering down this street, one would come in contact with our good friend and neighbor, Alex Jardine, collecting funds for this very worthy cause. Perhaps there is a small minority in Newton who still does not know Charlesbank rd.; well, the early morning worker who is fortunate to drive his car to work or business will use this thoroughfare as a short cut on his way to Boston, Cambridge and way-stations. It runs out of the Norwesterly quarter of Newton Corner off Washington st. and winds its way down to the Nonantown Boulevard and past the Watertown Arsenal and so on into town. It's a narrow street where the paving job had enough left over to curl up about 3 or 4 feet on each side for a sidewalk. The

LIUET-COL. LANG SENDS XMAS GREETINGS

Lieut.-Col. Raymond E. Lang, who for two and a half years was Chief of Chaplains at Camp Edwards, recently transferred to Fort Williams, Me. He is now Chief of Harbor Defense and S. C. U. Chaplains, Headquarters Harbor Defense of Portland, Me. Conditions around Portland became so bad that he was selected as the logical man to help clean up a bad situation. Reports coming to us indicate he is doing a fine job.

Rev. Lang, former Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville and also former Chaplain of the First Corps of Cadets in Boston through his friends in Newton, extends to all of the Newton men and women in the service, a very Merry Xmas to all.

Rev. Lang is a former member of the Newton Rotary Club. A certificate of appreciation for having given their rector to the services of our Armed Forces, as a Chaplain, has just been received by St. John's Church. This was issued by General Arnold, Chief of Chaplains of the U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

NEWTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

The entertaining articles on Life in Newton, which will occupy this space in each issue, are generously contributed to What's Cookin' in Newton by Paul Conidine, author of "Newton After Dark."

Old Man Winter delayed his arrival, this year, until Saturday morning, Dec. 11th, when at three by the clock, he made his entry in grand style. The mercury bowed low in humble courtesy and he bowed wildly, all around town, in his honor, as early risers hastily sought that extra set of longies.

Automobiles balked and motors chugged along on one cylinder, many of them frozen in clouds of steam, as frozen rad ators added to the miseries of the drivers. The usual leisurely manner of pedestrian travel gave way to mad dashes from one point to another and the Town's housewives, shopping for the daily groceries, seldom failed to inquire if 'twas, "Brr, cold enough for you."

What, with Christmas in the offing and all, throngs pushing and hauling their way through the stores, so's to aid Santa Claus, reached an all time high. Gasoline rationing, plus the shortage of automobile tires, keeps the majority traveling via the public transportation systems, with the result that money, social position and all the rest of that kind of thing, doesn't mean a snap of a motorist's fingers any more, so far's traveling is concerned....

Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's Light O Love are sister straphangers now. Even multi-millionaire run-of-the-mill millionaires, these days, as they shiver in unison at the various transfer points.

Incidentally, while it's true that the majority rides the trains, buses and trolleys, it is also a fact that the majority of that majority are of the feminine gender. All of which accounts for the great number of innocent, male, bystanders suffering numerous contusions, abrasions and bruises, as the result of the open field running, plus the double wing back formations employed by the bundle toting, homeward bound lady shoppers. A male, in fact, is almost as safe at the front, during this season, as he would be on the home front. In the long ago—pre 1941—the Christmas holidays did bring out the lady bargain seekers. But in those days, the team was semi-

A Lecture on Christian Science entitled Christian Science: Prayer Made Practical

by

LEONARD T. CARNEY, C.S.B., of Beverly Hills, California
Member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church,
The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

The lecturer was introduced by Edmonds P. Lingham, First Reader, who said:

Friends: On behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, I welcome you to this lecture. Giving a lecture is one of the means provided for us to share the blessings of Christian Science with others. We know that "we must share if we would keep that blessing from above; they cease to have who cease to give: such is the law of Love," as one of our hymns expresses it.

Healing through right praying is the corner-stone of Christian Science. Mary Baker Eddy, its Discoverer and Founder, states in the first sentence in our textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures": "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love." This afternoon we shall hear more of the efficacy of right praying, for the subject of the lecture is: "Christian Science: Prayer Made Practical." Our lecturer is Mr. Leonard T. Carney, of Beverly Hills, California, a member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. I am happy to introduce Mr. Carney.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Mankind, today, is in search of that which will solve the perplexing problems of life. The average man is seeking for a simpler, happier way of existence. Find a man who is truly happy, and you usually have one who is healthy and sufficiently supplied.

Man's Great Need

The normal individual wants less of that which confuses him, and interferes with his rightful course, and thwarts his just endeavors. Let him have less worry and he will have more confidence, less fear, and he will have more love, less earthiness, and he will have more heavenness. So the great need of today is for the elimination of that which interferes with the continuity of harmonious living, for a fuller sense of life and its joys. Would you think business executive unwise who wants to eliminate waste loss motion, defects, and antiquated ways of doing things by supplanting them with more expeditious methods, which would simply the work and render it more beneficial? Is it not equally wise to seek a scientific knowledge of your own life, to learn how to overcome waste of energy, loss of power, ill-health, diminishing happiness, and how to supplant them with joy, health, peace, and progress? Christian Science supplies this great need of mankind.

Mrs. Eddy's Mission

Because Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, saw the urgent need of the sick and sinning, she longed to save them from their misery. Here, my friends, you have the animus, the transcendent determination, the life-purpose of a woman who knew the bitterness, harshness, suffering pain, and poverty of mortal existence as few gentlemen have been forced to know it—to whom at times at doors were closed. It was through this dark experience, working, watching, praying to be shown how she might be delivered from a life of physical suffering that she made the great spiritual discovery now known as Christian Science. It was through the sacred page of the Bible, illumined by spiritual revelation, that in 1836 she experienced an instantaneous healing which resulted in a permanent cure of that which the doctors and physicians incurable from that time on through long years of consecrated service to God and to healing mankind such as has not been equaled since the time of Jesus, this lone woman left for all time an impress of spirituality that causes unnumbered hosts to rise up and call her blessed.

The Bible, the Textbook, and Its Author

It is sometimes said that Christian Scientists place their textbook above the Bible, but this is not so. They are obedient to what is given in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, where it is written (p. 427): "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life."

The truths of Christian Science do not originate in this book, Science and Health. They find their expression there, but their origin is in God. Truth is as old as God. The purpose of the textbook is to show how practical and applicable are the truths of the Bible, how the sick are healed, the sinning reformed, the sorrowing comforted. It explains many seemingly incongruities that have long puzzled Bible students. The textbook exalts the Bible as no other book has done, and students of Christian Science study the Bible, the authorized King James Version as they have never studied it before. They also realize the importance of owning and studying the Christian Science textbook in connection with the Bible and freely advise this course to others.

I once found myself lost in a mountain glade in a forest of the Northwest. I did not know how I had entered the enclosure of entangled growth, so dense that not a path into it or out of it was to be seen, not an index visible. As I circled round and round, faster and faster with my fears of the approaching night and the unknown filling my thought, I suddenly stopped and began to realize the presence and power of God. His directing intelligence available then and there as I had lately learned it from Mrs. Eddy's writings. As fear departed, I felt a peace and confidence that all was well. Then appeared to view the indefinite path through which I had entered the tangled wood and in due course I was safe at the hotel. In her writings, Mary Baker Eddy has plainly marked the pathway that leads to the maze of material living for all to understand and utilize. To her we acknowledge full debt for transformation of our lives from what they were to what they are, and will be.

The message of Christ-healing came from God, and the woman who heard it became the messenger, commissioned and equipped by God to bring this divine message to the present age. We receive this message through her writings. Her hand held the pen out God gave her the words. Thus is fulfilled the forecast of John or Patmos who saw two witnesses. The Truth should evidence it through-out all time. Those two witnesses are Christ Jesus and Christian Science or God's law made available to humanity. We do not deny the personality of Mrs. Eddy; she would be the first to rebuke this; but we do accord to her, her rightful place in Christian history.

The Place of Prayer

As in the time of Jesus, so in Christian Science, the means of healing is through the understanding and power of true prayer. It is notable that the first chapter of our textbook deals with this topic. Prayer is the opening of the mental door through which you and I may have communion or audience with God. If all the prayers uttered this very moment by those in need should conjoin in a mighty anthem, it would reverberate around the world. Men on rafts in the middle of the ocean, in planes above the earth, in the fox holes of the shifting battle, mingle their prayers with those of their loved ones at home (for there is no separation in divine Mind), and God answers these heartfelt prayers with deliverance.

What Is God?

Where is God? If we look to the senses, that which we see or hear or feel, do we find God? Does He dwell in the earth, the tree, the stone? Does He inhabit a house of wood or a body of flesh? Job cried, "Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!"

Paul recognized the nature of Deity when he spoke of Him as "all in all" (I Cor. 15:28). From this we perceive that there is nothing out of God, no wisdom, no intelligence, no presence, no power, no being. He is all-inclusive, all-embracing, all-enriching, all-enveloping. Christian Science clearly defines God without reservation for it is not so unknown. God that the prayer uttered God is defined in the textbook (p. 587) as "The great I AM; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance, intelligence."

At the time of Moses, I AM was a name for Deity, meaning "He is; He who exists;" the living, self-existent, self-expressing self-sufficiency, of which there is no end and ever shall be. The word Principle indicates that from which all things proceed, the source, cause, and origin of the creator of all things. The name Mind means all-inclusive intelligence, of which there is no end, no more than one. Soul means infinite individuality, identity, oneness which is reflected in man and the spiritual universe. Spirit implies omnipresent substance without form or matter, of which is eternal, limitless self-existence. Truth is that which is real and immortal; it is that which is, as opposed to that which is not. Love is the name of God, the name of the Father, the name of God to whom all our real needs are known and by whom they are supplied. As you see, these seven synonyms refer only to one God; however, they each have their own office, in order to bring out the oneness, completeness and aliveness of God.

Man in Science

Man is defined in the Christian Science textbook (p. 591) as follows: "The compound idea of infinite Spirit, the spiritual and the likeness of God; the full representation of Mind." Man is included within an encompassed in Mind as idea, not matter. Without man, God would be incomplete, and man without God could not exist. Hence when we say God is all, we mean God and man, God and His manifestation. It naturally follows that man is not God any more than a ray of light is the sun.

An exalted sense of man is as necessary as an exalted sense of God. A perfectly good God and a perfectly evil man is anomalous. A perfectly good God could not create a man who could suffer and die. Hence, then, comes a sick, sinning and unhappy mortal? You can find him nowhere except embraced in the human consciousness of mortal mind which is the false belief in a mind apart from God. Change your concept of man from a material to a spiritual basis through spiritual understanding, and no longer will you be conscious of a sick and unhappy mortal. If we look up to God, we find man, not down to earth, we shall see man as he really is.

Reflection

This brings us to what Mrs. Eddy indicates is a profound teaching in Christian Science—the subject of reflection. That which is profound is likewise simple and easy to understand. She presents an illustration of a person standing before a mirror and viewing his reflection in the glass (Science and Health 515:25-4). It is to be noted that to have a reflection there must be light. It is through the light of spiritual discernment that reflection in Science is understood. To the one standing before the mirror his image is not at other person, it is what that person sees and knows about himself as to himself. It is that selfsame person reflected in the mirror. Then she goes on to say "Now comes the man before the mirror to his divine Principle, God. Call the mirror divine Science and call man the reflection. From this it is plain that man as reflection is what God knows about Himself; it is God's own spiritual knowledge of Himself. Man in Science is not God, he is the reflection of God, God's consciousness of His own perfect being. Thus man is the image of God Himself, as we read in Genesis, "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." It follows that because there is only one God, there is only one spiritual man. This is the only man there really is, and in Science you are that man by right of individual reflection.

On a mental blackboard let us draw a perpendicular line; on the right side of this line put the word "Love" with its meanings of at-oneness, unity, harmony. On the left side of the line, let us mentally place a list of those opposite beliefs which spell separation, disunity, friction. At the top of this list we would certainly place "fear," for nothing destroys the unity and harmony of man as does fear; next we might place "hatred," then "impatience,"

Unreliability of Matter

Physical scientists appear to be at sea regarding the nature of matter. One of the greatest authorities admits that we do not possess any the lesson of Love—Love for God and man. Of what avail is it to be able to state correctly the letter of Science and yet allow its spirit to go unexpressed? The letter, then, becomes the dead leaves of winter, tossed in the chilly blast of intellectualism. The warm center, the living part, the heart of Christian Science is Love. It is larger than words, more extensive than thought. Nothing but divine Love itself can define it, nothing but deeds can attest it. According to St. John, "God is love," and he adds that he who knows Love knows God. Love can be defined only by those who love and are loving; it is defined in their deeds and in their lives. Divine Love means at-one-ment, unity, harmony. So love recognizes the oneness and harmony of all things.

When we say that the method of healing in Christian Science is the prayer, the prayer of realization of the truth of God and man, we take it out of the category of mind-cure will power, hypnotism, and the like. They are the antipodes of Christian Science. Nor is it a matter of faith-healing. It is the prayer of spiritual understanding.

A common viewpoint about prayer is that one should beseech God through supplication so that He might place in the lap the thing desired, provided that the voice is loud enough and the lap large enough. Man needs no more than God has already provided, with a love for His children which transcends that of any earthly father. Prayer does not give us something new. It changes nothing real. But it does show what we already have, what unlimited power and intelligence we already possess, and how we may make use of them. In so doing it removes the limited sense of man, long retained, renders thought transparent to the truth, and thus reveals the unlimited man of God's creating. In bringing to light the real man, the false sense of man disappears.

Some of the most valued paintings by artists of world renown have been hidden for centuries by figures superimposed upon the original by later painters. By means of a delicate process of removing the layers of paint, sometimes five or six, thought, patient, and intelligent effort, the original has been brought to light in clearness and freshness, to delight and inspire art lovers of the present day. In the process of removal, it is not necessary to touch the paint and figures thus falsely imposed, but to discover the valued original. With the same careful, patient, and painstaking effort, one may remove the layers of selfishness, self-depreciation, lack of ability, frustration, weakness, neglect, laziness, wasting of time, and all evil tendencies, which discourage and defeat him. They are the false power which hide one's real worth. Our value is not placed upon us by others; it is the evaluation we place upon ourselves. When we do place it high enough, others respect that valuation and honor it.

Prayer and Healing

When we say that the method of healing in Christian Science is the prayer, the prayer of realization of the truth of God and man, we take it out of the category of mind-cure will power, hypnotism, and the like. They are the antipodes of Christian Science. Nor is it a matter of faith-healing. It is the prayer of spiritual understanding.

Salvation

Salvation is the saving of a man from the pains and pleasures of his own false beliefs. It is more than a public pronouncement; it is an inward transformation whereby the Christ-power as Jesus understood it, prevails over sin, sickness, and death. "Work out your own salvation," is a command which it is possible to obey. Right thinking, which leads to right acting and living, is the passport to heaven. "Heaven is not a locality, but a divine state of mind," as the textbook states (p. 291).

Sin is intentional wrongdoing. God does not punish sin; He does not have to. Sin punishes itself through mental and physical suffering until the sin is given up. There is no escape from this mandate that sin kills itself. We should not be disturbed by seeing the wicked prosper. He who indulges in sin, lust, dishonesty, hatred, selfishness, pride, and the like, may roll along flashily, like a new automobile, unmindful of the narrow road which leads deeper and deeper with every revolution of the wheel, until it pierces the tube of inflated egotism and leaves one flat.

Safety for Those Under Arms

How may one use Christian Science as a protection for loved ones far away on the field of battle, and for the prosperity of our countries under arms? Thought recognizes no limitation of distance. In consciousness you are present with your loved ones now. Nothing can separate you. We read (Science and Health, p. 559), "Scientific thought reaches over continent and ocean to the globe's remotest bound." The power of Truth is instantly present and operation everywhere, every moment. Your word of Truth, uttered aright, understood, reaches beyond human limits and brings peace, security, and safety, where the need most be. Thus, daily and hourly, one may render effective support to those in need, whether they be on land, in the air, or on or under the sea.

As distance raises no barrier to effective prayer, so the fact that there are great numbers of those who may be in need of help does not render divine aid less effective. I am intimately familiar with the following incident during the first World War. One of the large cantonnements of eighty thousand men was beset by a sudden epidemic, and paralyzing fear settled like a blanket over the camp. Daily there was unprecedented human loss. Officers as well as men appeared sicker and frightened. The brigadier general, commanding officer of the camp, was a Christian Scientist. He and the Christian Science Camp Welfare Worker, together with another Christian Scientist, one evening resolved that that night each of the three would, in his separate abode, take up the problem in continuous prayer for deliverance of the camp. This was done. The morning broke clear and bright. Men along the company streets appeared cheered. They were relieved and gay. Officers whistled as they entered headquarters, and some inquired what had taken place to change things so markedly. The evening, however, the night as did the Syrian hosts of old, and the epidemic began to subside from that day.

Conclusion

In conclusion: The purpose of Christian Science is to present to a world in need the practical, operative power of prayer, which is based on the Bible, and fulfills Jesus' command to heal the sick and sinning, and comfort the sorrowing. It shows how our lives may be transformed through eliminating the mental traits and characteristics which impede our progress in the home, in society, and in the business world. It shows us how through effective prayer we may bring protection and safety to those near and far, and may aid in directing the course of the nations from darkness to light and victory.

The purpose of the textbook is to show how practical and applicable are the truths of the Bible, how the sick are healed, the sinning reformed, the sorrowing comforted. It explains many seemingly incongruities that have long puzzled Bible students. The textbook exalts the Bible as no other book has done, and students of Christian Science study the Bible, the authorized King James Version as they have never studied it before. They also realize the importance of owning and studying the Christian Science textbook in connection with the Bible and freely advise this course to others.

I once found myself lost in a mountain glade in a forest of the Northwest. I did not know how I had entered the enclosure of entangled growth, so dense that not a path into it or out of it was to be seen, not an index visible. As I circled round and round, faster and faster with my fears of the approaching night and the unknown filling my thought, I suddenly stopped and began to realize the presence and power of God. His directing intelligence available then and there as I had lately learned it from Mrs. Eddy's writings. As fear departed, I felt a peace and confidence that all was well. Then appeared to view the indefinite path through which I had entered the tangled wood and in due course I was safe at the hotel. In her writings, Mary Baker Eddy has plainly marked the pathway that leads to the maze of material living for all to understand and utilize. To her we acknowledge full debt for transformation of our lives from what they were to what they are, and will be.

The message of Christ-healing came from God, and the woman who heard it became the messenger, commissioned and equipped by God to bring this divine message to the present age. We receive this message through her writings. Her hand held the pen out God gave her the words. Thus is fulfilled the forecast of John or Patmos who saw two witnesses. The Truth should evidence it through-out all time. Those two witnesses are Christ Jesus and Christian Science or God's law made available to humanity. We do not deny the personality of Mrs. Eddy; she would be the first to rebuke this; but we do accord to her, her rightful place in Christian history.

The Bible, the Textbook, and Its Author

It is sometimes said that Christian Scientists place their textbook above the Bible, but this is not so. They are obedient to what is given in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, where it is written (p. 427): "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life."

The truths of Christian Science do not originate in this book, Science and Health. They find their expression there, but their origin is in God. Truth is as old as God. The purpose of the textbook is to show how practical and applicable are the truths of the Bible, how the sick are healed, the sinning reformed, the sorrowing comforted. It explains many seemingly incongruities that have long puzzled Bible students. The textbook exalts the Bible as no other book has done, and students of Christian Science study the Bible, the authorized King James Version as they have never studied it before. They also realize the importance of owning and studying the Christian Science textbook in connection with the Bible and freely advise this course to others.

Hospital Here To Restrict Visitors

In an effort to prevent further spread of the upper respiratory infections that are now prevalent in this community, the Newton Hospital and the Newton Health Department are adopting an emergency policy restricting visitors to the hospital. Patients with pneumonia, grippe, "flu," common cold or any other upper respiratory infection will be limited to one visitor each day—the nearest member of the family.

It is felt that this restrictive measure is necessary at the present time in order to insure our patients proper care. Our personnel, already reduced by wartime conditions, has been further reduced by illness; also our volunteer auxiliary staff has been considerably depleted by illness.

Therefore, because of the present situation, the Hospital and Health authorities urge your cooperation in limiting visitors to the Hospital during the prevalence of upper respiratory infections in the Newton and Wellesley communities.

To Sponsor Project For War Effort

In addition to the regular work of helping to maintain morale in wartime, the All Newton Music School has completed plans to sponsor a very concrete project to help in the war effort.

From January third through January thirty-first, a special effort will be made to encourage the purchase of E Bonds and Savings Stamps by board members, staff and faculty members, parents and friends, to secure credit for a sum large enough to provide for an important piece of equipment—a field ambulance costing $1780.

All friends of the Music School are invited to help this drive by buying their E Bonds or Savings Stamps at the Music School office or at any bank in Newton, and ask for a receipt giving credit to the All Newton Music School. These receipts should be turned in promptly to Mrs. Worth at the Claffin School Headquarters in Newtonville.

News comes from the fighting fronts of courage and daring of many service men who were once pupils of the Music School and are now serving in every part of the world. It is expected that the drive for a field ambulance will be oversubscribed and the equipment thus provided will be presented in recognition of the fine service and sacrifice of these former students.

Ten Ways To Help Nurse Services

As a member of the Greater Boston Nursing Council for War Service the Newton Committee wishes to announce the TEN ways in which the general public can help stretch nursing services so severely strained by war demands, to meet the needs of the Army, Navy and civilian population as stated by Miss Carrie M. Hall, R.N., President of the Greater Boston Council.

Cooperation of everyone is increasingly important because nursing remains the nation's No. 1 womanpower shortage declared Miss Hall. As in the case of food and clothing and countless other commodities, Americans did not realize how wasteful they had been of nursing skills until war shortages forced them to conservation. Nursing as usually is out of the duration but with the help of everyone we can give the care which is important to keep national health secure said Miss Hall. The ten ways in which the public can cooperate which have been drawn up by nursing leaders at headquarters of the National Nursing Council for War Service are as follows:

- 1.—When you need nursing care apply the principle of rationing which means that although you can still have essential nursing service you may not have as much as you formerly had.
- 2.—When you are sick in a hospital request special nursing service only when the doctor says it is essential. Save time for the doctor and his helpers by asking that several of your needs be filled at one time. Don't expect special privileges regarding guests or food.
- 3.—When you are sick at home or have returned from the hospital at the very earliest possible moment, follow your doctor's advice about your need for part or full time professional nursing service.
- 4.—Ask the Newton District Nursing Association (BIG 4880) for skilled nursing care on an hourly basis particularly for care of acute illness, special treatments during convalescence or in long-term illness.
- 5.—When you have a friend in the hospital and feel the irresistible urge to send flowers, send well chosen bouquets already arranged in containers.
- 6.—Ask about hospital visiting hours before you go to visit a sick friend. Exceptions to rules interfere with the established plans for nursing service. Keep your visit short.
- 7.—Accept the wartime obligation to keep yourself well and do all you can to keep others well.
- 8.—Learn how to care for members of your family at home by taking the American Red Cross home nursing course. For information call LAS 6000.
- 9.—Volunteer for hospital service as a nurse's aide or hospital orderly (if you are a man) thereby supplementing the available supply of professional nursing service. Call Newton Hospital BIG 2800.
- 10.—Interest young women in becoming professional nurses and encourage inactive nurses to return to active practice. If you are an inactive nurse who desires to help, call Miss Esther Walther at the Community Council office, LAS 5120.

To Transfer Social Security Office

Transfer of the Social Security Board's field office from 10 Temple st., Cambridge, to 1248 Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, first floor, to be effective on January 1, 1944, has been announced by James T. Phelan, manager.

The new location, in the Harvard Square district, was selected for the convenience of the great number of people from Cambridge, Arlington, Lexington, Bedford, Burlington, Woburn, Auburndale, Newton, Winchester, Belmont, Somerville, Watertown, Waban and Waverly who are served by the office. The ground floor location of the new office is considered more desirable from the viewpoint of the many elderly individuals who have occasion to visit there.

The second floor location of the present office might have been found to present difficulties for those who are infirm or physically handicapped.

In addition to monthly old-age insurance payments for retired wage earners who are 65 or over, the office administers monthly insurance payments for qualified widows and children of insured wage earners who have died.

Payments of this Federal insurance to survivors is based on the wages and employment of the deceased and is made regardless of how much property, real estate, securities or money was left by the deceased. If the deceased had been employed in covered employment the survivors should be advised to make immediate inquiry of the field office in order to determine what insurance might be payable to them. A claim for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits should be filed as soon as possible, as delay in filing may deprive a claimant of some monthly payments.

Anyone who believes he or she may be entitled to benefits is invited to make inquiry of the Social Security Board's field office at 1248 Massachusetts ave., Cambridge. There is no charge for making inquiry or filing claim.

Those unable to make personal visitations to discuss Social Security matters are invited to telephone. The telephone number will be the same as at present—KIRKland 7179.

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, January 2, 1944, in The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and in all its branches.

The Golden Text, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God," is from Revelation 21:3. Other Bible citations include: "The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. . . . Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward" (Psalms 19:9-11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligations to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them" (p. 261).

Need Drivers For Motor Corps

Active volunteers are urgently needed by the Newton Red Cross Motor Corps it has been announced by Mrs. Stanley Stedfast, captain. "It is essential that we answer every call to drive the gallant men and women who are serving with our fighting forces, and to do this we need at least 20 additional members for our first reserve Motor Corps," said Mrs. Stedfast. "This should not be too difficult, once the women of Newton realize the need. The age limit has been lowered to 18, and anyone wishing detailed information regarding the training course which will start the middle of January should phone the Corps office at Lasell 6000."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic.

Dear Sir:

To all who are interested in sound, honest, humane, economical and efficient government in our city the retirement of Charles B. Floyd from the presidency of our Board of Aldermen is a cause of deep and sincere regret. For years he has been Public Servant No. 1 in Newton.

As president of the Board he has been a wise, resourceful and courageous leader. His unblemished personal integrity, his absolute fairness and his genuine kindly friendliness, made him respected and loved by all.

This is written from personal experience for several years ago he appointed me chairman of an important standing committee of the Board. He never once told me what the committee was to do with any matter before us. He never failed to support the action of the committee when it submitted its report. I always felt that Charlie Floyd could be counted upon to back us to the limit when the show down came. That was his way with all his committees, and that is the mark of a truly great legislative leader. Such leadership inspired all of us to do our very best.

I have never known Charlie Floyd to make any decision on any other basis than what he thought was the best interests of the city. Such men are precious. That they are willing to serve is an inspiring proof that our American way of government is sound and enduring.

When they feel that they have served their term and wish to lay aside their responsibilities let us be grateful to them as long as they live because of what they have so unsparsingly given.

Yours truly,
GEORGE E. RAWSON.

POLITICS

WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Statesmanship

Webster's New International Dictionary defines a statesman as follows: "A man versed in the principles and art of government; especially, one who shows unusual wisdom in treating or directing great public matters; also, a man actually occupied with the affairs of government and influential in shaping its policy."

I am quoting this definition today because I am wondering just how many of our elected representatives, either in our own Legislature or down in Washington in the halls of Congress may properly be termed statesmen. The chances are that we have about 50 politicians to one statesman. Perhaps that is being too generous. However, the point I wish to make now is that the times in which we are living call for profound statesmanship and the news in the papers does not indicate that we are very well supplied with this vitally necessary governmental tool.

Contemplate for a moment the point made last night by Raymond Clapper in his widely-syndicated column, appearing locally in the Boston Traveler. His theme song is very simple, namely, that the coming world-wide order appears to lie in the hands of four big men of affairs, Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek.

Clapper wants to know just what will happen if and when any of these powerful leaders die, resign or are defeated for re-election. They form, for the moment, an APPARENTLY smooth-working partnership. What we need is a more permanent corporation, which will endure long after any or all of the four men in question have passed out of the picture. Clapper goes on to state that our President announced that the recent conferences dealt with broad objectives rather than with details. He wants to know (and so do we) what the machinery is to be for organizing the vital details and carrying out the month by month decisions and orders. Surely this can not be left to chance. Neither can it be left to the unpredictable whims of our own Congress or the changing governmental machinery of our three major allies.

Let's concrete this situation for a moment. Suppose that Mr. Churchill should lose his seemingly inexhaustible vitality, even though he might not be ruled out of the picture by his physician. Suppose, further, that Mr. Roosevelt should either decide not to run for a fourth term or should make the race and go down in defeat. Under the present loosely-organized set-up, what do you suppose would happen? It is most unpleasant and disconcerting to even think about. Accordingly, Clapper makes a plea for the creation of a United Nations Council of some sort of the earliest possible moment. He is dead right. It seems to me that nothing is more important than that, provided, of course, that we allow nothing to interfere with the task of winning the war as quickly as humanly possible.

Congress is currently on vacation and most of the Congressmen have gone back home to find out what their constituents think of their activities to date and to learn what is expected of them in the immediate future. Why not contact our own Congressmen, Christian A. Herter, who maintains a Boston office for the benefit of his constituents, and let him know your views regarding this problem or any other matter of importance now before Congress? Incidentally I want to go on record here and now to the effect that Hon. Christian A. Herter is one of the relatively few Congressmen who rates the title of Statesman. Talk to him, write to him and watch his performance in Congress. You will find that he measures up to the highest and finest standards of public service.

Read These Books
There are three books currently under discussion which are well worth reading. They are "Under Cover" by Carlson (which is not the writer's real name), "One Man—Wendell L. Willkie" by Sparks and "Connecticut Yankee" by former Governor Cross of Connecticut. The last-named is an autobiography and gives a fascinating account of a learned educator's sojourn into the political arena. It is full of interesting anecdotes concerning men like the late Will Rogers, big businessmen, movie stars and, of course, prominent politicians. It makes one wonder if we are not missing a trick by not utilizing more of our leading educators and other professional men in the public service.

The other two books are apparently about to be investigated by Congress for a variety of reasons; good, bad and indifferent. Carlson's book is readily available at almost any book-store, but I have not yet been able to secure a copy of the Willkie treatise. Carlson showed up too many isolationists. That seems to be the main trouble with his book. If my information is correct, it might be appropriate to investigate some of the activities of Mr. Sparks and his reasons for writing his diatribe on Willkie, who may, eventually, benefit from the book.

Guests at the meeting included Capt. Robert Morrill, Army Air Forces Edward G. Mellus of Bristol, N. H., Ted Leonard of Bangor, Me., W. L. Vosburgh of Boston, Fabian Bachrach of Newton, Ray Nelson of Walpole, Harold Everett and George Bishop, both of Watertown.

The Junior Mothers Rest Club of Newton Centre will hold a luncheon meeting Wednesday, Jan. 5th, at the home of Mrs. Harry Jones at 100 Centre St., Assisting hosts will be Mrs. Kenneth Crafts, Mrs. Worthen West, Mrs. Gordon Wilkes and Mrs. Douglas Francis.

Kiwanis Activities

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club enjoyed a worth-while and interesting program at the weekly meeting last Tuesday. Group singing was under the leadership of Pete Pettengill, who did a good job. President Jim Riggs read a letter of appreciation from the Peabody Home for Crippled Children in connection with the Christmas party given them by the Kiwanis Club. A roll call of members was taken and served to reintroduce especially those who have joined the club recently.

George Van Buskirk asked for a full attendance at the next meeting which will be an evening affair with supper at the "Y" at six-thirty o'clock. Jim Gallagher will install the new officers at that time. This portion of the program to be followed by a vaudeville show at eight-thirty.

Ben Louis reported that the third issue of "What's Cookin' in Newton" is being prepared and that criticisms and comments will be welcome.

Mr. Louis then introduced the speaker, Mr. C. Wilson Anderson of the Home Service Branch of the Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross. He spoke of "Morale Building in the Army and Navy." He mentioned morale as being built in the armed forces by the possession of good equipment and good training and successes here and there. The American Red Cross serves the function of looking after the welfare of the relatives of servicemen. He said that the Boston office receives an average of 6000 requests for help each month. He also said one of the main aims of the Red Cross is to keep servicemen in touch with their families through communications of various kinds and to help families keep in touch with relatives who are in the service.

The Red Cross also conducts a reporting service which helps the Army and Navy to weed out men who are not likely to stand up to the strain of training. Also, it helps to investigate the need for emergency furloughs. In addition, the Red Cross plays a major roll in helping families of servicemen who need assistance with complicated home conditions. This is called "Family Service Work" and helps greatly to relieve the mental tension of the soldier at the front. Mr. Anderson spoke very readily and his presentation was most interesting.

President Jim Riggs, who presided for the last time as President of Kiwanis, thanked Mr. Anderson for his contribution and also expressed his thanks to the members of the club for their cooperation and support during the past year.

COMPLETE AIRPLANE PROJECT

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Homer W. Anderson announced the completion of Newton's quota of 400 inspected and approved scale model airplanes for the United States Navy, Bureau of Aeronautics.

Over four hundred pupils, instructed by industrial arts teachers in the four junior high schools participated in the construction of the model planes.

The project has been conducted throughout the entire nation by the U. S. Office of Education and involved the need for 800,000 model aircraft of 80 different types of fighting craft belonging to Allied and Axis nations. The models are used by members of the army and navy air corps for aircraft recognition training and gunnery sight practice. Being made to an exact scale of 1 to 72, from aeronautical engineers' drawings, the model plane seen at 35 feet is identical with the true airplane seen at just under half a mile. By studying the model through the standard ring sight used on aerial gun mounts the pilot learns not only identification but range estimation as well.

A committee of inspectors headed by Grosvenor D. Marcy judged the accuracy and workmanship of each model, based on government specifications, before the planes were shipped to air depot supply centers.

Local director for the project was Herman A. Pohlman, chairman of the industrial arts department of the Newton junior high schools.

Red Shield Club Is Now Open

Boston's neighbor communities are taking an active interest in The Salvation Army's new Red Shield Servicemen's Club at Purchase and Federal sts. which was recently opened.

The special occasion was the presentation of $250 from Arthur J. Mansfield, Publisher, Arlington News and chairman of The Salvation Army's chapter in Arlington, for that community's contribution toward the club's furnishings. William Cahill, Treasurer Newton Trust Company, and treasurer of The Army's Local Service Fund in Newton, contributed $1,000. These donations were presented to Mrs. Colonel Richard F. Stretton, wife of the Provincial Commander, on behalf of the Local Service Funds in the respective communities.

The new Red Shield Club is meeting an urgent need for this particular type of servicemen's center in the South Station area. The club is being taxed to capacity and plans for expansion are being urged on The Salvation Army.

One of the features of the new club is that it remains open until the small hours—closing time, often, only a few minutes before the opening hour. But if it's the men in service—then it's right with The Salvation Army.

The spirit of cheer and good will rang through all the Christmas activities of the Rebecca Pomroy House, Hovey st., a member agency of the Newton Community Chest. Each afternoon and evening laughter and fun echoed through the rooms.

Thursday evening, the mothers of the Nursery School forgot for a while formulas and routine to enter into games and activities with Miss Betty Brooks, Nursery School teacher and her assistant, Mrs. Ruth Tedesco.

There was much excitement on Friday morning when twenty-six little members of the Nursery School entertained their mothers and younger brothers and sisters. Each child received a gift and gave their mothers gifts which they had made.

A number of service men were helped to forget for a while that they were far from home at the Christmas season when the Pomroy Socialities gave a Christmas party on Saturday evening. Dancing, games, gifts, a carol sing and refreshments all helped to make the evening a success.

Lack of Rain Is Cause For Concern

Newton weather for the past year has been slightly warmer and much drier than normal. Local records indicate the average temperature has been one half a degree above normal each day, in spite of the recent cold spell.

Gardeners are worried over a deficiency of about eight inches in the usual rainfall, which may seriously affect the water table under this year's Victory Gardens, as well as existing landscape plantings.

Authorities at the State College in Amherst have recommended the use of mulches to conserve the existing soil moisture during the winter. Cold winter winds which dry out leaves and stems are more harmful to plant tissue than subzero nights, with little wind.

Thick blankets of snow protect tender plants and furnish much needed soil moisture. In the absence of snow, Evergreen branches are the ideal winter protection for most flowering shrubs, perennial borders and even the bare soil of waiting Victory Gardens.

E. Dexter Davis, of Mill st., Framingham Centre, points out that the branches of large Christmas trees make easily handled protection. Last week brought the close of the most useful Christmas tree market in twenty-five years. In common with most dealers, the Big Glass House at Little Tree Farms, in Framingham Centre, had a surplus of their nursery-grown Christmas trees.

Hundreds of these unsold Christmas trees have been cut into pieces and baled for instant use. Each bundle will cover about thirty-five square feet of garden area, and will remain fresh and green until the March winds have subsided. In this way, a salvage of the trees will improve the gardens of the coming season, thru the conservation of all existing rainfall until early April.
